

Senate Rejects Tax-Free Item In Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) agreed today the House would demand some substitute for the tax-free fund which caused a surprise Senate rejection of a compromise on congressional pay raises.

The Senate shouted down the measure Friday and sent it back to conference with the House. No further action is possible before Monday.

The bill carries a $22,500 salary for the lawmakers, $7,500 more than they now receive, in addition to the controversial $1,250 non-taxable allowance designed for excess office expenses.

Also included were increases of $7,500 to $10,000 in the pay of federal judges, and raises for the vice president, House speaker, U. S. attorneys and their assistants, and top justice department officials.

After the voice vote rejection of the bill worked out by a Senate-house conference committee, the Senate voted 62-7 to instruct its conferees to insist the tax-free fund be eliminated.

The same five conferees who acted previously were named by the Senate. Kefauver, head of the group, told a reporter he was sure the House would insist on some other concession as a substitute for the expense fund.

Talbott Explains Jet Base Switch

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Air Force Talbott has told a House Appropriations Subcommittee why he switched a proposed jet fighter base from one Michigan site to another.

But a crisp "no comment" was all he would say to reporters after a two-hour closed-door session Friday with the committee, headed by Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.). The chairman said:

"All I can say is that we had a hearing. Eventually the committee will have to do something."

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the full committee had asked Talbott to hold up an $8,635,000 appropriation for construction of the base. Cannon's position was that the committee had approved the appropriation with the understanding the base was to be built in Homestead township, Benzie County. The location later was changed to Cadillac.

Cannon, who did not attend Friday's hearing, told reporters he probably would accept whatever recommendation is made by the sub-committee.

Third Atomic Test Blast Postponed By Adverse Weather

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The third and perhaps most potent blast of the 1955 atomic test series, scheduled for predawn today, was called off late Friday night because of adverse weather.

The Atomic Energy Commission completed preparations for the 500-foot tower blast on Yucca Flat at 5:35 a.m. But cloud and wind conditions worsened during the night.

The shot, originally scheduled to open the series Feb. 15, was expected to pack a wallop of close to 50 kilotons, or 2½ times the power of the nominal A-bomb. A weather briefing will be held today on chances of firing it Sunday.

House Approves Tax Cut; OK By Senate Doubtful

Regents To Help Pick Name For Michigan State

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Three University of Michigan regents have been sent to meet with members of the State Board of Agriculture to find a new name they can agree upon for Michigan State College.

But in a meeting Friday, the regents renewed their stand that they would object to any name that combines the words "University, State, and Michigan."

Regents took the move to stave off a bill pending in the state House of Representatives that would change the name of Michigan State College to Michigan University.

It was the second bill in 13 months proposing the name change. University officials hoped the meeting between the regents' committee and a Board of Agriculture committee would arrive at "a harmonious conclusion."

In effect, the regents' stand asks that Michigan State, if it adopts the name university, makes some provision to avoid "infringement on the name University of Michigan."

Rebel Republican Dominates Democrat State Convention

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A rebel Republican, Circuit Judge Eugene F. Black of Port Huron, dominated the Democratic state convention today as it met to nominate candidates for the April 4 spring election.

Black, Republican attorney general in the administration of the late Gov. Kim Sigler, was an odds-on favorite of delegates for nomination to one of two positions open on the State Supreme Court.

Gov. Williams' administration reportedly was reluctant to see Black placed on the ticket—but party leaders said he had "impressed" many delegates, had the backing of the CIO element and stood a "good chance" of taking the nomination in a crowded field of Democratic stalwarts.

Speaks His Mind

Black, appointed to the Circuit Court by Gov. Williams, told an open caucus of delegates that he was restrained by his oath of office and the non-partisan character of the bench from speaking his mind politically.

But he said he had a right to speak out as to "ways and means of defeating last Saturday's bid for ultimate corporate control of our courts."

"Gravely, I say, unto you, that the Republican party conceived of Lincoln is no more," Black said.

"That great structure of pioneering liberalism," he said "is now a General Motors plant operated as all of its factories are by remote control from conference tables in New York City."

Delegates Like Appeal

Black said, "the daily Republican press started in 1947 to tell you all about my faults. x x x You see—I must put this in—they didn't like what I was doing in their advertising box offices when I forced those big Republican—General Motors—car dealers, to cough up and pay into Michigan's treasury with all interest and penalties thousands upon thousands of sales tax dollars they by habit had been slipping into their pockets x x x"

These fighting statements apparently appealed to the delegates enough to give Black the edge over Thomas Giles Kavanagh of Pontiac, Edward Ryan of Kalamazoo and Leon A. Cousens, of Detroit, his leading opponents.

At another point, Black said that if Republican candidate D. Hale Brake were elected, "I will have to change the direction of my opinions" on the Port Huron circuit bench. "Creaking, stiffened muscles will be heard on the third floor of the capitol and the thinking of 1890 will return to our courts."

Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth of Flint, former Democratic attorney general, was considered a cinch for the other Supreme Court nomination.

Soo Man Strong

The administration's stop-Black movement centered on former Supreme Court Justice Clark J. Adams of Pontiac, but he refused to enter the contest.

Lynn M. Bartlett, Grosse Pointe assistant superintendent of schools, was reported to be the leading candidate for state superintendent of public instruction.

A meeting of party leaders with Gov. Williams, August Scholle, and other labor and party leaders indicated that Williams E. Baker, superintendent of the Mesick Consolidated Schools, may be the nominee for State Board of Agriculture along with Dr. Connor D. Smith of Standish, whom Williams has twice appointed to that board.

Paul Adams of Sault Ste. Marie was reported a strong candidate for the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan with Eugene B. Power of Ann Arbor and Traverse City probably holding the edge over John M. Veale of St. Clair Shores for the other regency post.

Committee May Eliminate Slash In Income Levy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposed $20-a-person income tax cut voted by the House Friday headed today for an uncertain reception within the Senate Finance Committee.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) called for testimony Monday by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. Byrd, who opposes the reduction, announced he would try to get a committee vote on the bill then to bring it before the Senate next week.

In addition to the proposed $20 slash effective next Jan. 1, for each taxpayer and each of his dependents, the measure would continue corporation income taxes at 52 per cent instead of permitting them to drop to 47 per cent on April 1. It also would extend excise levies on liquor, tobacco, gasoline, automobiles and other items at present levels.

George Changes Views

Byrd said he believes the committee will strike out the Democratic-sponsored income tax cut which survived a 210-205 House vote before that chamber passed the bill 242-175.

But Sen. George (D-Ga.), on whom Byrd was counting heavily as an ally, said in a separate interview that he wants to canvass the situation thoroughly before he decides what steps to take.

This statement represented an apparent change in views by the Georgia senator since President Eisenhower last Wednesday denounced the income tax cut as "treaching some kind of heights in fiscal irresponsibility."

House Democrats, headed by Speaker Rayburn of Texas, tightened their lines after Eisenhower's statement and won what many of them considered a political victory over the administration. On the key 210-205 vote, the tax cut was supported by 205 Democrats and 5 Republicans, and opposed by 16 Democrats and 189 Republicans.

Huge Revenue Loss

He told newsmen while visiting at Gettysburg, Pa., that "the very closeness" of the House vote encouraged him to believe the Senate will kill the proposal.

The $20 reduction would cost the Treasury about $2,200,000,000 in revenue over a full year, and about $15 millions in the six months it would be effective in the next fiscal year. On the other hand, the corporation and excise taxes that otherwise might expire raise about three billion dollars annually and would be applied during most of the fiscal year.

Nations United To Stop Creeping Asia Communism

BANGKOK (AP)—The eight Manila Pact nations stood firmly today in the path of creeping communism in Asia, confident their alliance could stop the Reds.

They showed their determination to fight aggression in a three-day conference that ended late Friday. Delegations from the United States, United Kingdom, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and France hailed the organizational work as a positive step against stopping the Communists.

The conference showed the world that:

1. The United States means to stand behind its Asian allies militarily, economically, culturally and spiritually.

2. That the best defense against Communist aggression is the might of America's great fleet, Air Force and nuclear weapons in the Pacific and the military outlays to be expended by the seven other members of the alliance.

3. That not only will members of the Manila Pact benefit economically from the organization but their neighbors in Asia will get help also.

4. That all the nations in the pact will cooperate closely in an effort to root out Communist subversion in each country and keep a sharp eye on the threatened nations in Asia not yet members of SEATO.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles, was described by associates as highly pleased with results of the conference.

Britain's Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden was described also as pleased with the results of the three day meeting.

One reliable source reported Britain "absolutely" accepted South Korea, Japan and Formosa along with Manila Pact nations as vital to the free world's position in Asia.

Alger Says Europe Is In Fine Shape

DETROIT (AP)—Frederick M. Alger, Jr., U. S. ambassador to Belgium, has described the European country as "in wonderful shape economically and politically."

Alger was on record with the statement Friday before returning to Brussels after a quick visit home.

Alger, a former Michigan Secretary of State and Republican nominee for governor in 1952, was appointed to the diplomatic post by President Eisenhower.

Bus Hits Tree; 29 Die

VIGO, Spain. (AP)—A speeding bus hit a tree today and 29 of the 40 persons aboard perished in flames. Relatives of the dead tried to lynch the driver, but police saved him.

Ranchers Marooned By Wyoming Drifts

GILLETTE, Wyo. (AP)—Snowplow and bulldozer crews returned early today to their battle with wind and cold to reach perhaps a dozen families marooned by huge snowdrifts in northeastern Wyoming.

Although there was some fresh snow during the night, none was considered in danger and all were believed to have enough food.

Similar efforts continued across the state around Rawlins in the southwest to get feed to thousands of sheep, likewise stranded by a blizzard last weekend and continuing bitter weather.

Campbell county commissioner Quinton Marquis reported roads were opened to one ranch before dark Friday in the rescue mission to an area about 15 miles north and east of here.

Two other ranches remained cut off. National guard trucks followed the snowplows with food and fuel, along with livestock feed. An undetermined number of livestock, believed to be mostly cattle, were affected in Campbell county.

Farther north, on the windswept ridge of the divide in southern Wyoming, an estimated 24,000 sheep remained trapped and hungry.

Hopes Dim To Find 2 Children Missing In Flint River Area

SAGINAW (AP)—A Coast Guard helicopter was scheduled to join the search today for Charles Schramm, 10, and his 8-year-old sister, Georgianna, missing since Wednesday.

Sheriff's deputies held little hope of finding the two children, who they fear have drowned in the Flint River near their home 10 miles southeast of Saginaw. The youngsters last were seen about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Reuther Calls Food Situation Sorry Spectacle

WASHINGTON (AP)—CIO President Walter P. Reuther accuses the Eisenhower administration of what he describes as a "sorry spectacle."

Reuther also contends there is "a deliberate campaign by leaders of the Eisenhower administration" to lay the cause of high food prices to government support of farm prices.

The CIO chief called it a "sorry spectacle" based on a mistaken assumption that "city workers can be turned against the farmer for political purposes."

Reuther testified before the House Agriculture Committee in support of proposals to re-establish price supports on basic commodities at 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a price level set by law to give farmers a fair return in relation to their costs.

The CIO, Reuther said, favors a full 100 per cent parity income for the farmer as the ultimate goal but is backing a return to mandatory 90 per cent supports now in preference to continuing the present flexible support program.

Detroiters Held In Holdup Plot

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two Detroit area men were among six held today for investigation in a plot to blow up a payroll car from the Grandview Air Force Base.

Kansas City police said they stumbled onto the plot while checking leads on several holdups and robberies, including the theft of dynamite from a construction project.

The Detroit area men were identified as Airman Walter W. Kalomyski, of Wayne, Mich., and Airman Gerald Richard Domeik, 20, of Detroit. Domeik is stationed at the Grandview Air Force Base.

Police said the six abandoned the plan to blow up an Air Force payroll carrying a payroll because some of them held the risk to be too great.

Police identified Kalomyski as masterminding the plan.

University Athletics Gross Near Million

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan has reported its athletic program took in nearly a million dollars in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1954.

The regents of the university accepted a report by the board in control of inter-collegiate athletics Friday showing operating receipts of $993,789.

This exceeded expenses of $765,716 by $228,573. It was an improvement over the previous fiscal year but an expanding building program dipped into the board's cash reserves.

Socialists Oppose German Rearming

BONN, Germany (AP)—Opposition Socialists rallied their forces today for a last ditch—but apparently hopeless—struggle to block the Paris treaties rearming West Germany.

As the parliamentary battle over ratification entered its third day, the clashing lawmakers faced the prospect of an all-night session before reaching a vote. All hope for French approval of German sovereignty and rearmament rested on the outcome.

Despite the fierceness of the fight, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer seemed certain of victory in his drive to push the pacts through the Bundestag, the lower House of the West German Parliament.

The Socialists virtually conceded defeat in advance by summoning party chiefs to a conference immediately after the close of debate "to consider the new political situation."

There was no clear indication when the final vote might come.

If approved, the ratification laws must be returned to the Bundesrat (upper House) for final action before being sent to President Theodor Heuss for his signature.

New Relationship With Press Fine, Regents Report

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Regents of the University of Michigan, who opened their meetings to the press last fall, reported Friday "it was an agreeable relationship."

Regent J. Joseph Herbert of Manistiquie said, "we have found their presence agreeable and we think they have been fair in their reporting."

H. F. (Bill) Bailey, general manager of the Adrian Telegram and chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the Michigan Press Assn., said:

"I, of course, am very happy about it. In my report to the MPA I told of our warm and agreeable relationship. We've been able to get together on the matter of education in Michigan, both with the regents and the board of Agriculture (governing body of Michigan State College.)"

Red Gunboats Shell Nationalist Island

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist warplanes early today attacked Chinese Communist craft north of the tiny island of Wuchiu in the Formosa Strait and destroyed two, air force headquarters reported.

The communists did not describe the type of tonnage of the Red ships. It said all Nationalist planes returned safely.

Earlier, the defense ministry reported Chinese Red gunboats shelled nationalist-held Wuchiu but said it was not regarded as preliminary to an invasion attempt.

The Nationalist Ministry said the exchange of gunfire at tiny Wuchiu, 80 miles west of Formosa and less than a half square mile in area, broke out when 11 Communist gunboats and armed motorized junks happened to pass by.

A communique said two of the Red craft were damaged heavily. In Taipei, Nationalist Premier O.K. Yui told the Legislative Yuan (Parliament) that Chiang Kai-shek's forces would "in no circumstances" give up Quemoy and the Matsus without a fight.

The Premier said those islands were vital to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores and added that he believed American experts should agree. The United States is committed to defend unspecified areas which it deems necessary to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores.

The Ministry reported Red warcraft shelled Wuchiu about the time Nationalist warships bombarded small Red-held Peichishan, 12½ miles north of abandoned Nanchishan, formerly northern

Manila Pact Meeting Blasted In Moscow

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio charged today the Bangkok Manila pact conference was an American "conspiracy . . . for the preparation of new military adventures against the peoples of Asia."

Two Soviet commentators blasted the Southeast Asia security conference of eight Manila pact nations which ended at Bangkok Friday.

Symphonette Plays Here Sunday In Karas Concert

The third annual Karas Memorial Concert will present the Green Bay Symphonette, conducted by Ralph B. Holter, in concert at 8 p. m. Sunday in Wm. Oliver auditorium at Escanaba Junior High School.

All proceeds from the concert will go to the Karas Memorial Bandshell Fund.

Conductor Holter has arranged a program of 11 numbers, ranging in audience appeal from selections from Kern-Paul's "Showboat" to a movement from Mozart's "Symphony in G minor" and one of Dvorak's melodious Slavonic dances.

Three Local Musicians

Certain to please is a Cole Porter's, "In the Still of the Night," arranged in the modern manner; and LeRoy Anderson's lively "Sleigh Ride," an American descriptive often requested by audiences.

Three Escanaba musicians will play with the 55-piece symphony orchestra in its appearance here. They are Mr. and Mrs. Arol Beck and Elie DeDryver. Mrs. Beck plays the viola. Mr. Beck the string base and DeDryver the cello. Mayor Harlan Yelland will speak briefly in outlining progress in the Karas Memorial Bandshell project. Proceeds from the concert will go to the bandshell fund.

The Program

The concert program is as follows:

Prelude and Fugue in D Minor—Handel-Kindler.

Hans Kindler, late conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra, and a cellist of world renown, has adapted two generally unknown compositions of Handel into the Prelude and Fugue.

Symphony in G Minor, No. 40—Mozart.

1st Movement, Allegro molto. Often called the greatest little symphony in existence, this movement has a song-like character typical of Mozart's writing.

Angelus (From Scenes Pittoresques)—Massenet.

Portrays the tranquil beauty of a French countryside. Vesper bells are pealing and peasants gather in an ancient cloister to complete the quaint setting of the music.

Slavonic Dance No. 8—Dvorak. Melodic, rhythmic, changeable in mood; folk music of Central Europe in compositions of lasting

Norman Laakso Is Speaker At West Rock 4-H Meeting

ROCK—The Ewing Township Hall was filled to capacity Wednesday evening when Norman Laakso, 4-H club exchange student to Finland last summer spoke at the West Rock 4-H club meeting.

Mr. Laakso covered every phase of the life of the Finnish people as he worked on three different size farms in different parts of Finland. He spoke on their customs, food, homes, farming methods, sports, home life, etc. He illustrated his talk with colored slides, also explaining parts of his talk in Finnish because of the many older Finnish people present.

Mr. Laakso will speak at the Rock PTA March 28. The regular meeting of the West Rock 4-H club was brief. Reports were heard on the various projects. Plans for a toboggan party Sunday were discussed. The 4-H members who are taking sewing for their project will exhibit their work during the March PTA meeting.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting by the mothers of the 4-H club members.

The girls in the sewing club met at the Laurie Hallinen home Thursday evening. Next week Wednesday they will meet at the Reino Niemela home. The electrical meeting will be held at the home of Reino Niemela Tuesday evening. The younger members of the sewing club meet every two weeks. Saturday afternoon they met at the home of Osmo Aalto.

Entertains Club

ROCK—Mrs. Ernest Fosterling was hostess to the Rock Bridge Club this week. First place was won by Mrs. Henry Jokela, second place went to Mrs. August Larson Jr., while Mrs. Archie Bazinet received the consolation prize. Lunch was served by the hostess. The club will meet at the home of Mrs. George Weingartner for the next session.

Lions Club Program

Members of the Rock Lions club were entertained by an interesting and informative report on lie detectors by Sgt. George Strong of the State Police force at Marquette at the regular meeting this week.

Sewing Club Meets

The West Rock Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. Lauri Hallinen on Thursday evening. Lunch was served toward the close of the evening by the hostess.

'Velvet Glove' Closes Series

"The Velvet Glove," last in the series of Civic Drama Guild productions for the 1954-55 season, will be staged Tuesday, March 1, at the William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium at 8:15 p. m. The series is sponsored by the Escanaba Lions Club.

Cast of the play includes Dorothy Taylor as Mary Renshaw, Pearl Ford as Mother Hildebrand, Gilbert Reade as Tommy Pearson, Ruth Sorrell as Sister Monica and Hubert Beck as Bishop Gregory.

Dorothy Taylor inherited her acting ability from her grandmother, who starred with David Belasco. Dorothy started her stage career at the age of three and has been acting and dancing ever since, including motion picture films in Hollywood. She recently returned from London where she studied at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts under a scholarship. Included among her stage roles are Ophelia in "Hamlet," Nina in "The Sea Gull" and "Laura." Miss Taylor has also appeared on television with Paul Whiteman, Louise Albritton, Paul Winchell and may be remembered for her performances in the Guild's productions of "Angel Street" and "Mister Roberts."

A Real Troupe

A real trouper, Miss Pearl Ford is no stranger to Civic Drama audiences, having played important roles in "Harvey" and "Jenny Kissed Me". She has devoted her whole life to the theater, as an ingenue and leading lady. In recent years, as a character woman, Pearl has been very busy in stock and television with appearances on such major shows as "Robert Montgomery Presents" and "Studo One".

A St. Louis, Mo., native, Gilbert Reade started in show business as a child performer in vaudeville and motion pictures. On stage, he has appeared with such stars as Katherine Cornell, Charlton Heston, Kent Smith, Eli Wallach, Maureen Stapleton, Ralph Clanton and the late Sir Godfrey Tearle. Recently, Mr. Reade has been seen on many television shows, including "You Are There", "Captain Video", "Rocky Kane, Detective" and "Martin Kane". Twice called to the Army, Gilbert Reade rose from private to captain, serving overseas. Also a veteran of the Guild, "Gil" has toured with "Jenny Kissed Me" and "Be Your Age".

On TV Shows

Ruth Sorrell is no stranger to television viewers having been seen on "The Big Story" and "Philco and Kraft Playhouse". After graduating from a Texas college, where she majored in drama, Ruth appeared in a number of Texas stock theatres and then became ingenue lead with the Cleveland Playhouse. At Cleveland, she played in "Edward, My Son", "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Dear Ruth". She appeared on Broadway in "Trojan Woman" with Margaret Barker and "Sabrina Fair" with Margaret Sullivan.

A special price for students, who wish to attend this final play, has been arranged.

Barr School Closes 57 Years Of Service

Yesterday marked the closing of another chapter in Escanaba's history, the last day of classes in the 57 year old Barr School, located on 5th Ave. S. between 12th and 13th Sts. Monday, the 300 Barr school children will resume classes at a new elementary grade school, the John A. Lemmer School.

A farewell tribute was given the Barr last evening by the school's teachers with a supper at the school when the school's bell rang out for the last time. Teachers of the school include Margaret Bezold, Irene Karasti, Edith Marinelle, Mrs. Florence Holmes, Mrs. Beulah Hebert, Frances Crahn, Esther Carlson, Vendela Sundquist and Don Binkowski.

Guests at the supper included Melvin Carlson, janitor; Frank Hirn, janitor of the Barr for many years; Mrs. Jerry Snyder, Miss Ella Bacon and Miss Mary Criston, former instructors at the Barr.

Many Escanaba residents remember their school days at the Barr and have mixed feelings on the closing of the old school. The emotions of several of Miss Sundquist's fifth graders are described below:

A Good Friend, My School
A school of sixty, the Barr oh you know
Who's taught many children, be it hot or cold
It has chosen the best teachers, be them young or old
Throughout the years, Barr has been the best place to go.

When we go it will be sad, to think of all the fun we've had

Lots of people old and young, look back to when they had fun
The old bell ringing, the children singing
The teacher humming, the children running.

The old walls say so loud and deep, the creaky stairs say in a creak
You are not leaving sadly, they said, you must not be blue
You must look ahead, to all the new

But now I say this be a lesson to you, when you leave a good friend, you would feel this way too
I feel neither happy or sad, I just feel pretty bad.

Barr School
Many feet, both large and small, have climbed your stairs and trod your halls.

The joy of many happy days still echo from your walls.
For I learned most lessons here, and other people to all through these sixty years

All the people tall and small, who leave this school right now,

It is your time Barr right now to take your last and final bow.
Good-bye, Barr School

Good-bye Barr School, your sixty years old
I think that your just about ready to fold.

You totter and sway, like you'd tumble down
But really I think you deserve a crown.

So we say farewell and shed a tear
When we think of the good times we've had here.

Although it's hard to leave a friend
All good things must come to an end.

Good-bye Barr School, Good-bye.

Dear Old Barr
The Barr School is a nice school, it's good in every way
I remember all the happy times when I was at work and play.
I've had a lot of fun here, too bad I have to go.

But I'm going to a new school, it had a gym you know.
We hate to leave this good old school, we have been here so darn long
But when you come to think of it, you sing another song.

CITY RESIDENTIAL LOTS FOR SALE

The City of Escanaba proposes to sell to the highest bidders certain lots located on Lake Shore Drive across the road from the Escanaba Athletic Field. Said lots are a part of Block One of proposed Assessor's Plat No. 6 and are in an area zoned as a "Residential A" district.

The lots to be sold, with the frontage of each lot and the minimum price to be accepted are as follows:

Legal Description	Frontage	Minimum Price
Proposed Assessor's Plat No. 6
Lot 15, Block 1	153 ft.	$20 per foot
Lot 16, Block 1	140 ft.	$25 per foot
Lot 17, Block 1	140 ft.	$25 per foot
Lot 18, Block 1	140 ft.	$25 per foot
Lot 19, Block 1	140 ft.	$25 per foot
Lot 20, Block 1	140 ft.	$20 per foot
Lot 21, Block 1	160 ft.	$25 per foot

The deed of conveyance for Lot 15 shall provide the city with an easement for maintenance of a storm sewer. The deed conveying Lot 20 shall contain a proviso granting the city an easement for drainage purposes.

The deed of conveyance for all lots shall carry a restriction providing that only one residential dwelling shall be built on each lot and providing that no lot shall be subdivided.

A map of the area is on file in the office of the City Clerk where further information may be obtained.

Bids must be accompanied by a certified check or money order payable to the City of Escanaba in an amount of ten (10%) percent of the bid to show the good faith of the bidder.

Sealed bids will be received by the City Clerk in his office in the City Hall, Escanaba, Michigan until 8:00 P. M. (EST) Thursday, March 17, 1955, at which time said bids will be publicly opened and read aloud by the City Council in regular meeting in the council chambers of the City Hall.

Envelopes containing bids shall be plainly marked: "Bid for the Purchase of Lot No. ....". In case of identical bids, the bid bearing the earliest postmark will be the successful one.

Purchase price shall be paid in full upon presentation of a deed to the property.

The City of Escanaba reserves the right to waive any formality in the bidding, to reject any or all bids, and to accept the bid which it deems most favorable to the best interests of the City of Escanaba.

GEORGE M. HARVEY

Dated February 25, 1955.

Firemen Answer 4 Calls Last Night

Escanaba firemen were called out four times last night in response to alarms, none of which was of a serious nature.

At 8 p. m., they were called to the 100 block, 1st Ave. S., where an electric wire was in a tree; at 9:40 they washed gasoline off the street after an auto gasoline tank was punctured in a minor auto collision at 14th and Ludington Streets.

They were called to the Gus Sanders residence, 1215 7th Ave. S., at 11:10 p. m. where a furnace had overheated; and at 2:45 a. m. today they went to the Christian Science Church, 300 block S. 13th St., where a passerby saw a light burning inside. There was no fire.

THE ESCANABA POWER PROBLEM

This advertisement is sponsored by your city government to bring the facts to you—facts that may have an important bearing on the solution to the Escanaba Power Problem. Send your questions to the City Manager and answers based on fact will appear in this ad.

The Questions:

The Answers:

1. The revenue bonds spoke of in your quotation of 4½ million dollars for a city-owned plant; this means the plant would pay for itself out of profits. The cost of a City-owned plant in operation would of course mean higher operating costs than the present system; would this mean an increase in rates or a smaller return to the general fund by the electrical dept.?
2. The proposed vote on the electrical question; is this vote for the purpose of selling to the Michigan Power Company or to grant the Council permission to advertise for bids? Has the City Attorney ruled on the legality of selling City property without advertising for bids?

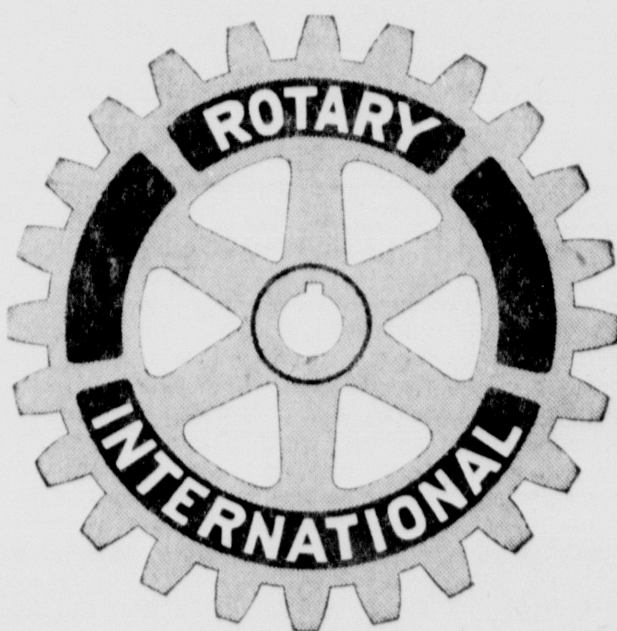

1. In the year ending June 30, 1954 our operating expenses were $343,400, including taxes, and if our own generating plant is in operation by 1957 it is estimated that our operating expense will rise to $551,000 (Pfeifer & Shultz Report) This and bond interest and retirement would result in a smaller return to the general fund unless the council authorizes an increase in rates.
2. The proposed vote is to authorize the City Council to sell the electric distribution system to the Upper Peninsula Power Company for the sum of $1,200,000. The City attorney has ruled that this procedure conforms with the City Charter.

Government Paper Work Costs Taxpayers $4 Billions A Year!

WE hear a lot of talk about the Industrial Revolution that started us on the path we're traveling today at such breakneck speed. But we don't hear enough about the Paper Revolution that went right along with it.

If you asked them, most people probably would say the steel mill stack or the electric dynamo was the perfect symbol of our civilization. But maybe it ought to be the filing cabinet. Or the wastebasket.

In and out of our offices (not to mention our homes) pours a torrent of paper—letters, reports, appeals, advertising material, documents, and so on.

This deluge of white stuff is almost overwhelming at times. After the material is shuffled about for a while, it usually heads for one of two destinations—the basket or the file cabinet. Some of the toughest decision in government and business hinge on which place to pitch a paper you hold in your hand.

The school of thought that automatically thinks "file it" is the right choice evidently believes we're living in such a marvelous age that nothing ever recorded on paper should ever be destroyed.

At the other end of the scale are those who seem to figure that so much happens every day that nobody will care much what occurred a week or two back. They're the wastebasket feeders.

Recently the new Hoover Commission had occasion to report on the paper flood as its affects government. What the commission found was pretty staggering. The federal establishment creates or handles about 25 billion pieces of paper a year, not counting untold tons of pamphlets, technical manuscripts and so on. Wastepaper consequently is the largest item shipped out of Washington for industrial use.

Office space for the 750,000 workers engaged in full-time paper-handling—one way or another—is equal to 36 Empire State building. The space required for the 24 million cubic feet of federal records equals seven Pentagons.

The commission estimates all this costs the government $4 billion a year. And this averages out to $100 in taxes for a family of four.

The investigators thought about $255 million savings might be managed on paper work. Not a paltry sum, yet hardly large enough to suggest great confidence that the paper snowstorm can be reduced to harmless flurries.

The cost is only one sad aspect of this thing. Think of all those trees!

A False Witness

IN 1950, Harvey Matusow, three-year veteran of the Communist Party at that time, turned federal informer. He continued contacts with the FBI for nearly a year before the party expelled him in early 1951.

Thereafter he began appearing before various House and Senate committees investigating subversion. Altogether he testified more than 25 times and named about 180 persons by name. He was a paid government witness at the conspiracy trial of 13 second-string Communist leaders in New York. He advised Senator McCarthy during his inquiry into America's overseas libraries.

Now Matusow, preparing to go on record in a book called "False Witness," says he falsely informed on many people. He says he deliberately manufactured some of his testimony. He says he did this because informing was a "good racket" and he liked the "glamor enjoyed by the professional ex-Communist."

Obviously, Matusow has lied at least twice. As a Communist, he would have lied regularly because that is a compulsory Red tactic. Thereafter, either he lied when he informed or he is lying now when he says some of that performance was false.

We must try to figure out when if ever he told the truth, because the reputations of some innocent persons may well be involved. But the real reason is to beware of the professional "confessed sinner." A man should gain no automatic stature because he was wrong before he was right.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Today's word game is designed to test your ability to recognize words similar to one another in meaning. Below you will find two groups of ten words each. The first group is numbered 1 to 3, etc. The second is lettered A, B, C, etc.

For each word in the first group you will find a word of almost the same meaning (a synonym) in the second group. Thus the word numbered 1 may mean practically the same as the word lettered F. Write this down as 1F. When you have written down all the answers, check against the correct pairings at the bottom. Ten correct is excellent; eight is good.

1.—Ameliorate
2.—Augur
3.—Deft
4.—Ebullient
5.—Effrontery
6.—Extricate
7.—Irascible
8.—Obdurate
9.—Propitious
10.—Slovenly

A.—Unkempt
B.—Splenetic
C.—Mullish
D.—Mitigate
E.—Foretell
F.—Favorable
G.—Enthusiastic
H.—Dexterous
I.—Boldness
J.—Annihilate

ANSWERS: 1D; 2E; 3H; 4G; 5I; 6J; 7B; 8C; 9F; 10A.

How large is your vocabulary? How many thousands of words can you use with confidence? For the answers to these questions, just send a self-addressed stamped envelope to William Morris, in care of this newspaper, for a free copy of his new self-scoring vocabulary test. It will show you how many words you know now and how to improve your word power almost immediately.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

The morning after the reunion dinner with his old buddies from overseas, Caswell was definitely inclined to a conciliatory attitude to his wife. "Honest, darling," he assured her, "I have not the slightest memory of how I acquired either the lipstick all over my face or this terrible black eye." "I wouldn't know about the lipstick," she replied sweetly, "but I can tell you that when you staggered home last night you did not have the black eye."

A real gone bopper wandered by grave mischance into a museum of art, stopped short before a display of a full suit of medieval armor. He flipped the visor back and forth a couple of times in a tentative manner, then assured the guard, "You fellows have sure picked a crazy spot to stand a mail box!"

A couple of ghosts in Oklahoma wandered into a roadside drive-in and demanded whiskey-and-sodas. "This is a dry state," snapped the proprietor, "and we don't serve spirits."

Ministers Of The Gospel

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

It is as "Minister of the Gospel" that clergymen in general are known. Sometimes they are very much less than that, and sometimes they are very much more.

Today, in many places, there is a tendency for the minister to become a very active, useful and benevolent figure in the community, a sort of glorified community choreboy, with the preaching of the Gospel a somewhat minor activity, limited sometimes to sparse congregations on Sundays.

At the opposite extreme are many whose ministry is public in a larger sense, whose preaching, often brilliant and important, deals largely with problems of life and social adjustment, with defects of character and conduct, and with better living. Their preaching deals only indirectly with the Gospel as the message of God's grace.

As one whose ministry has had a strongly social emphasis, I am inclined to defend the so-called "social preacher." I have always objected to the commonly used phrase, "the social Gospel," as it implies that there is a Gospel which is not social. If there be such a Gospel I am quite sure that it is not the Gospel of Christ.

I cannot see how any preacher's preaching can be true to the Bible without being strongly social. The Bible is a great document of social justice and righteousness. It is a textbook of brotherhood and sound values in a Kingdom of God that is not of this world in comparison with the motives and values that commonly motivate the lives of men in whose lives God has no part.

Moreover, the Gospel of Christ is based on love—the love and grace of God—bringing to those who will accept it newness of life. It defines love as the controlling motive in all human relationships.

Nothing is more necessary in community life than an atmosphere in harmony with the Gospel and all the Gospel implies. Though we are a long way from that, the fact of the need, and the fact that it is the need, are no less.

So, it seems to me, the ultimate effect of the Christian minister, whether he be the servant of the community or the servant of the larger public that we call "society," depends upon his being not only in name, but in actuality, and in the truest sense, a "minister of the Gospel."

It is a high and holy calling, and as a long time observer of ministers and churches, it is my belief that the great majority of ministers fulfill that calling.

Here and there there have been, and are, time-servers and ministers of the world, but the great majority are ministers of the Word, preachers and ministers of the Gospel—the Gospel of Christ, the Gospel of the Grace of God.

This is what the true minister of Christ must be above all, whatever else he may be as a servant and leader. And he will the better be a servant and leader the more he is a messenger of the Gospel of new life through God's grace.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Regulation and control of the press, despite the protection supposed to be afforded by the Bill of Rights in the Constitution, has been brought one step nearer to consummation in America by the decision in the case of the "Kansas City Star." A jury obedient to the highly prejudiced instructions of a federal judge now has convicted that newspaper of violating the anti-trust laws.

There are some 180 cities in the United States where a single newspaper ownership exists and where conceivably a politically minded administration can do what the Truman regime did in an attempt to wreak vengeance on the "Kansas City Star" for its crusade against the Pendergast machine of the Democratic party and its vote-getting frauds in that area.

Harry Truman, as senator, helped to bring about the appointment of the judge in the case over the objection of Mr. Roosevelt's attorney general—Francis Biddle—who questioned his fitness for the bench. The "Star," by its vigorous crusade against the political henchmen of Mr. Truman, earned the latter's enmity. The case was instituted by the Truman administration. The Eisenhower administration was unable to quash it, as the matter was already in the courts, and there would have been a cry of political influence in the opposite direction if the case had been dropped.

CIVIL SUIT PENDING

But it is obvious that a criminal trial before a jury in such a highly complicated and technical affair as an anti-trust charge can hardly resolve the issues for the guidance even of the defendant if convicted. For all a jury decides is whether the defendant is guilty or not guilty. It files no explanation or legal opinion.

There is also a civil suit pending against the "Kansas City Star" which has not yet been tried. Here a judicial opinion by a lower court and perhaps by the Supreme Court will be available for examination. There have been two somewhat similar cases heretofore—one against a newspaper in Lorain, Ohio, which lost the suit, and one against a newspaper at New Orleans, which won its case. Some basic issues have been raised in these cases, but they are not identical with the charges filed in the Kansas City cases.

What is involved fundamentally is the right of a newspaper to set a selling price of its own for the editions it sells to the subscriber. In Kansas City, the evening, morning and the Sunday editions are regarded by the "Star's" ownership as a single newspaper, and the rate is so low that the combination price is a bargain compared to that of similar-sized newspapers in other cities.

Shall it be the law that a seller of services involving products of the mind, such as news gathering, cannot set his own fee for that sale? If he cannot, then is some government commission to fix the price, as it does electric light and power rates? If this is done, can it be said that the governmental body will not strive also to regulate either the quantity or the quality of the contents of a newspaper and the price to be charged?

LOW ADVERTISING RATES

Then there is the matter of advertising rates. The "Kansas City Star" considers it is selling a single product in its around-the-clock service each day and, for reasons of economy, feels it can serve the advertiser best at a relatively low rate that gives the advertiser coverage in all the editions each day rather than in any one edition. The right of a newspaper publisher to decide what he shall charge for one segment of a newspaper's content is as inviolate as the right of any seller of a patented article to do so.

But the issue raised here is whether, if the price is too low, it hurts a competitor, and whether it is then lawful to charge such a low price? Since when is a seller of goods to be penalized because he gives the public a lower price than a similar product is sold for another city? Yet that's the charge made against the "Kansas City Star."

It has been alleged that the "Star" thus has defeated competition. But is it a crime to win out in a competitive battle, and must an inefficient competitor be kept in business and the prices of a subscription or an advertising page held high so that the competitor will not be injured? That's one way, to be sure, of controlling the press.

Now, no newspaper which also owns a radio or a television station has a right to penalize any prospective advertiser and compel him to use all his media or to give a discount to the users of all three. For this would be a tie-in of three separate businesses. While there were some instances of this in the early days, there are none known now, and, if any are discovered, they should be examined under the anti-trust laws.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba — Appointments announced Sunday by the Most Rev. Francis J. Magner, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Marquette, will affect two Escanaba parishes, St. Anne's and St. Patrick's. Appointments, locally, are Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Guertin from St. Anne's to St. Mary's, Sault Ste. Marie; and Rev. Martin Melican, chaplain of Holy Family Orphanage, Marquette, appointed pastor of St. Patrick's to succeed the late Rev. Thomas Kennedy.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Characters in the cast of the operetta, "The Mikado," to be presented by the Senior High School musical department were chosen early this week. Those who have lead parts are John Stevens, Miriam Lund, Mary Louise Wilson, Lillian Hansen, Irene Larson, Tudor Phillips, Max Stokan and Ray Hurley.

Gladstone—Richard Johnston in declamation, Leo Wilson in oratory and Linda Jackson in extemporaneous speech were winners in the speech contests held at the Gladstone High School last evening.

Weighing In

Small Investors Creating New U.S. 'Age Of Little Financier'

NEW YORK —(NEA)— The shirt-sleeved clerk in the bustling wire room of one of New York's biggest brokerage houses people confidence that their mon-

"These are the odd-lot orders," he said. "Here, take a look."

Odd-lots are transactions under 100 shares of stock. Each card was a separate order—some to purchase stock, some to sell. There were such notations as "Sell 15 shares," "Buy 25 shares," "Buy 9 shares." This is peanuts in a stock market that daily deals in two or three million shares bought and sold. But enough peanuts make an elephant.

And today's elephantine stock market is increasingly being made up of these small odd-lot transactions. Naturally, odd-lots are rarely toyed with by the wealthy stockholder; they represent the investments of people with moderate incomes. And these are on the increase.

This is the age of the little financier," says Harold L. Bache, senior partner of the 75-year-old firm, Bache & Co.

And today the little financier—the white-collar worker, the housewife, the feed-store manager, the factory worker—is in the stock market more than ever before in history.

The New York Stock Exchange, studying all transactions during two typical market days in December, discovered that more than one-third of all stocks bought and sold those two days were traded by persons with an income of less than $10,000. The over-$25,000 income bracket was considerably less active.

Another study is even more conclusive. This one revealed that a little more than three-quarters of all investors are in the under-$10,000 bracket, and almost a third make less than $5000.

Why are the small investors turning to stocks?

"People got more money," says one Wall Street man. "And there are more people."

That is, of course, true—the country is prosperous and the population is increasing. But there have been prosperous periods before, when the white-collar worker put his money in the bank and the farmer tucked his in a mattress.

Now he buys stocks. The reason lies somewhere between two facts—the brokers and the stock market are conducting an energetic educational program, and there's a climate of economic optimism in the nation.

Wall Street's educational project is one of necessity. The U.S. is running short of millionaires. If "the street" is to exist, it must sell stocks. With its usual customers in short supply, it's turned to the relatively untapped source of money—the huge middle class.

The Stock Exchange itself has started a plan of monthly investments, so people can buy stocks like they buy savings bonds. For as little as $40 every three months, anybody can become a stockholder in any of the giant corporations.

This "MIP" has been operating about one year. Already, more than 28,000 plans have been begun, bringing some $11,500,000 into the market. If all these plans are completed, the grand total will be $68,000,000. The vast majority of this sum comes from the "little financier."

The mutual funds—organizations that buy corporate stocks and in turn sell shares in their own operation—also operate on a monthly investment plan.

So it has become easy to buy stocks. And, to acquaint the people with the facts of financial life, the progressive brokers have begun advertising on a big scale. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane, one of the biggest, spent $720,000 in 1954 on ads, mostly in newspapers. And they gave away booklets that cost them $400,000 to print.

Bache, similarly, is promotionally active with ads and booklets. And they also have a display which tours the bigger fairs and shows to acquaint people with the stock market. (The Stock Exchange's December study, incidentally, showed that 69 per cent of the business came from outside New York City.)

Bache produced a fashion show, too, called "Dividends Are a Girl's Best Friend," designed to attract career girls to stocks as an investment. There is, of course, some resistance to these somewhat flamboyant tactics among conservative Wall Streeters. A few of the straight-laced see it as "undignified." Some houses, because of the small commissions they earn, will not deal in odd-lots at all. But these conservatives are dismissed by the young Wall Street element as "old fogies."

The odd-lot purchaser is primarily an investor, not a speculator. Speculation in stocks today is far from what it was in the '20s, because the margin—cash deposited with a broker—is legally fixed at 60 per cent. It's like buying a car and putting 60 per cent down in cash. And that's a sizable chunk of cash, so the average stock purchaser can't do too much speculating.

Similarly, federal laws so regu-

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— The forthcoming Bandung, Indonesia, conference of 30 invited African and Asian nations has been cruelly described in advance as a meeting for the world's greatest display of inferiority complexes.

All 30 nations have been thoughtlessly referred to as underdeveloped, backward, uncivilized and even second class.

They are nearly all former colonies of once-greater western European powers. Most of these colonies gained their independence after World War II.

They are all intensely national and proud of their new freedom. They like to recall that they all had rich civilizations long before the Christian era and long before America was discovered.

Their spokesmen say they don't like to be looked down on as inferiors. They say that much of the idealism of World War II days—when there was much talk of equality among all nations—has now disappeared.

THEY ARGUE THAT THE United Nations they listened to when the United Nations was first founded are no longer heard. In the last few years these former colonies say they have been left out in the making of many important decisions. They have been treated as poor relations and not as equals.

This they consider particularly true in economic matters. The pre-Korean crisis cut in world raw rubber prices and the post-Korean dumping of U. S. agricultural surpluses on foreign markets are cited as actions taken without regard to the consequences on Afro-Asian countries which have been principal suppliers of raw materials.

If backed into a corner, representatives of these countries will express gratitude for the UN technical assistance. U. S. point four and economic aid. Their complaint is that too much of this aid went to Europe, not enough to them, where the need was greater to foster their social revolution.

There is much vague talk among Afro-Asian diplomats of "spiritual" considerations and "cultural" values which are not understood by the western countries.

THEY ARGUE THAT THE West sends out automobiles and tractors, chewing gum and bottled pop, movies and jazz. But the West doesn't send them enough writers and artists, students and teachers who will explain the philosophy of democracy and how it can be applied to their problems.

Some of the Afro-Asian representatives feel that just getting together and talking about these things will help. They feel that their prime ministers and foreign ministers are the intellectual equals of Chou En-lai, or Nehru or Molotov or any of the western diplomats. Sitting around a table and discussing their problems will, they feel, help them find solutions.

It will of course be impossible for the Afro-Asian delegates to find answers for all their riddles in the six days of their Bandung conference—April 18 to 24. That will be time enough for only one major speech from each of the 30 delegations if they listen to five speeches a day.

The official language, incidentally, will be English—the only language which they all have in common.

There will be many meetings on the side, the delegates believe. As much may be accomplished in bilateral or regional talks as in formal sessions of all 30 premiers or foreign ministers.

PRESENT PLANS ARE SAID TO be that there will be formal agenda in advance. Two secretariats are working on subjects that might be considered. In Jakarta, Indonesia, political questions are being listed. In Colombo, Ceylon, economic questions are being drawn up. The conference will decide on its own agenda after it convenes.

The main topics the organizers of the conference say they want to talk about include: The promotion of good will. Exploration and advancement of their mutual relations. Consideration of their social, economic and cultural problems. Discussion of national sovereignty, racialism and colonialism. Review of the contribution which African and Asian people can make to world peace.

Almost any subject could be considered under this broad outline. But it is perhaps significant that "world communism"—the number one topic in the west—is not listed.

Unquestionably the first Afro-Asian conference will lead to others. The Bandung meeting is only a start.

What will come out of these meetings—what new force for world interdependence may be unleashed—not even the delegates themselves can predict today with any accuracy.

Your Income Tax Primer

Final Steps, More Tax—Or A Refund

(Last of 12 articles)

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
Written for NEA Service

If you have been following the preceding articles of the Tax Primer, the Forms 1040A are all filled out and those of you filing on Form 1040 are almost finished. All that remains is to compute your tax, complete the part of Page 1, Form 1040, marked "Tax due or refund" and fill out the blanks at the bottom.

Remember, you should have a Form W-2 from every employer who withheld tax from your pay. If you had more than one employer, add up the amounts deducted from your pay for F.I.C.A. (Social Security) tax.

You are entitled to treat any deduction of F.I.C.A. tax in excess of $72 as additional income tax withheld. In other words any excess will be either credited or refunded to you provided you report the excess on your return as required on page 15 of the instructions.

If you owe an additional amount to Uncle Sam, payment must be made when you file your form 1040. The return must either be in the District Director's Office or postmarked not later than midnight of April 15, 1955.

If you have a refund coming, you can either have all or part of it paid back to you or credited against your 1955 estimated tax. Do not ask to have any credited unless you expect to file a Declaration of Estimated Tax on or before April 15, 1955.

The first step in using the tax computation schedule on Page 3 is to enter on Line 1 your adjusted gross income as shown in Item 4, Page 1. What you enter in Line 2 is important. You have a choice of showing either your itemized deductions or one of the amounts shown in (a) or (b) of the instructions with Line 2. Use whichever gives you the larger deduction.

You can change your method of computation from itemized deductions to standard deductions and vice versa any time before the statute of limitations expires, which is normally three years from the time your return is due.

For example, suppose your itemized deductions are $611 while your standard deduction (10 per cent of income) is $590. You should itemize and claim the $611 deductions. Suppose also that a year or two later you or a revenue agent discovers that an additional $1000 should have been reported as income in 1954.

This would increase your standard deduction by $100 (10 per cent of $1000) making it $690. Since the standard deduction would then be larger than your itemized deductions, you could change to the larger one in making your new computation.

Washington Program
HERMANSVILLE — A program was held Tuesday afternoon in the high school assembly room to commemorate George Washington's birthday.

Lawrence Smith, history instructor, was the main speaker. He related many interesting stories and facts concerning Washington. He pointed out that Washington instead of living a life of ease and luxury decided to spend his life in service to his country as a soldier and statesman. "We can learn much from his life to guide us in our own," said Mr. Smith in closing.

Mrs. Frances Lombard's group of students played back on the tape recorder a skit they had previously prepared on some of Washington's war time experiences.

To conclude the program, a movie was shown.

Briefs

Supt. Arne Johnson and Supt. Cyril L. Mantel of Hermansville and Powers, respectively, Tuesday attended the regular meeting of county school superintendents held at Carney, William Tobin, Supt. of the Carney schools was chairman of the meeting. School problems of a general nature were discussed and dinner followed the business meeting.

The Meyer Township Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting in the c. l., Tuesday, March 1, at 7:30 p. m.

Guest Speaker

HERMANSVILLE — The planning committee of St. Anne's Altar Society of St. Mary's parish, Hermansville, will have as its speaker at its next meeting, Mrs. Gerald Plunkett, delegate-at-large of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women for the Menominee Diocese. She will speak on the subject, "The Seven Keys to a Successful Christian Family Life." The next meeting will take place March 13 at 8 p. m. All members of the society are invited.

tax computation schedule of Page 3 following the instructions opposite each line and you will end up on Line 13 with the amount which goes in Item 7, Page 1, of Form 1040.

After your return reaches the District Director's office, it will be checked for mathematical accuracy. If you have made an error the District Director will send you an explanation together with either a bill or a refund depending on whether you figured too little or too much tax. If you should receive a notice telling of a mathematical error in your return and you do not agree, write the Director explaining why you don't concur in his statement.

Your return will also be reviewed to determine whether it should be examined by a Revenue Agent. Ordinarily only those returns which have doubtful or suspicious items are examined closely. The last few years, however, the Internal Revenue Service has been picking out some returns at random and giving them a close examination.

If your return is examined and additional tax proposed, you have the right to ask for a reconsideration of the charge if you do not agree with it. If you are not satisfied with a decision made in your District Director's office, ask the Director for the address of his District Commissioner to which you can appeal.

Ordinarily the Internal Revenue Service has three years from the time you file your return in which to charge you additional tax. But, if you make a fraudulent return, or if you fail to file a return, action can be taken by the Internal Revenue Service at any time to collect the tax and penalties.

April 15, 1955, is also the due date for filing the Declaration of Estimated Tax for 1955 (Form 1040-ES) and paying the first installment of tax due thereon. Because of changes made by the new tax law, many persons who formerly had to file a Form 1040-ES will not have to do so in 1955.

In order to determine whether you must file a Form 1040-ES on April 15, follow which ever of the two rules shown below is applicable:

1. If you expect to receive income of more than $100 not subject to withholding, you must file a Form 1040-ES if your estimated gross income exceeds $600 times the number of exemptions to which you are entitled, plus $400. For example, if you expect to receive more than $100 not subject to withholding and are entitled to four exemptions, you must file a Form 1040-ES if your estimated gross income exceeds $2800 ($600 x 4 plus $400 equals $2800).

2. If you expect to receive income of $100 or less which is not subject to withholding, the necessity for filing Form 1040-ES depends on your marital status and the amount of your estimated wages.

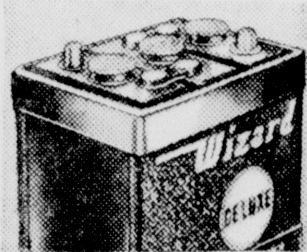

A single individual (not the head of a household or surviving spouse) is required to file Form 1040-ES if his total estimated gross income exceeds $5000.

A married couple filing jointly or a person entitled to the status of head of household or surviving spouse is required to file an estimate if the estimated gross income is expected to exceed $10,000.

Husbands and wives who are not entitled to file a joint return or who do not combine their income for purposes of applying the above rules under test 2 will be treated as single individuals who should file if the total estimated gross income exceeds $5000.

Don't forget to keep a copy of your completed tax return and Declaration of Estimated Tax in a safe place. Attach to your file copy any figures or facts that will help answer possible inquiries from the Internal Revenue Service.

Heating Systems Change Radically In Recent Years

Home heating systems have changed more radically in recent years than automobiles, for instance, or women's styles, or a lot of other most changeable things you might name. Autos still have motors and four wheels and the gals, bless 'em, are still draped in silks or synthetics. But homes are now being kept comfortable without massive boilers in the basement—even, in lots of cases, without chimneys.

You can be comfortable today by heating your body and forgetting about the air, or by heating the air and forgetting about your body. You can depend on a heated floor, or heated ceiling, heated walls, or invisible infra-red rays. Advertisers can't keep up with words to describe it all—words like "conditioning," "radiant," "weather-control."

But it all works, whether you choose a heating system in the form of wallpaper-like panels, snake-like coils in floors or ceilings, ducts to waft zephyrs through your house, or glowing baseboards near your ankles.

Baseboard heating has probably gone through more changes in its young life—less than a generation—than almost any other basic form of home heating. This system was devised to get heat all around a room without dictating to you where you could place furniture and where not. Space saving was one of its original virtues.

From a plain cast iron radiant baseboard, this system has developed to a point now where, on one hand, it can operate electrically with no heating plant in the basement or utility room—of course with no chimney—and on the other hand, offering year-round air conditioning.

You'll be interested in the workings of these two new systems.

Convectors are the secret of most of the modern baseboard heaters. Convectors are nothing more than very thin finned radiators, packed into small units the same amount of radiating surface offered by big old-fashioned radiators. The hot fins heat the air as it circulates over them and the air heats you.

That's why they're called convectors—heating by convection, or the warming of the air, rather than by conduction, like the hot handle of a pan, or by radiation, which is the sun's method.

Large convectors can be placed under windows like the old cast iron radiators, except that being more compact they are easily recessed into the wall. In their baseboard styles, convectors are more slender and geared to give off the same amount of radiation as larger units in single locations, such as under a window.

When these convectors are heated with hot water, it is a simple matter to circulate cold water through them in summer. So the hot water heating industry has come up with an answer to air conditioning promoted by the circulating warm air industry. By means of flexible ducts, about 3 inches in diameter—to fit easily inside standard partitions—you can now have air blown around these baseboard convectors in summer and there you have another version of air conditioning.

Electric convectors are something else again. Here the same established principle of maximum radiation through this fins is used to heat your home by convection. Manufacturers of these units stress all the advantages of electric heating, whether it is embedded in the plaster or in glass panels, plus the advantages of convection.

As for economy of operation, we asked Leo Slam, vice president of Electrovector, Inc. He con-

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS ONE-STORY house can be enlarged to provide a third bedroom by adding a wing in the rear as indicated by broken lines. A family room for activities or dining is separated from kitchen by a snack bar and can be merged with the large living room by folding doors. An oversized garage makes construction without a basement practicable with stair space ample for modern heater. This is plan C-334 by the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. The house covers 1,303 square feet with-out garage and third bedroom. (AP News-feature) tends that modern electric heat is economically expedient any place you can get current for 1½ cents per kilowatt.

However, Slam strongly advocates adequate insulation for maximum efficiency. Well, insulation has become pretty much of a must in connection with any kind of heat—unless you want to heat the whole landscape.

"But remember," says Slam, "when you install electric convectors, you need no heating plant—no chimney. You just call your electrical contractor and have him hook up your heat. The idea is not only glamorous for a new house, but it is a life-saver when you want to add a room to an old house. It lets you remodel rooms out of a breezeway, garage, basement or attic without overloading or replacing an existing heating plant."

HAMMER DENTS

Even a carpenter misses the nails with his hammer sometimes. When this happens and the hammer marks new lumber, such as trim, apply water to the bruise. The wood will expand and the dent will vanish. The carpenter suggesting this says the water should be applied only to the dent and not on the surrounding surface.

Beware Of Winter Desert-Dry Air Caused By Cold

BY MR. FIX

Distributed by NEA Service

If you have noticed that glued joints in your furniture occasionally come apart, and that these occasions generally happen during the winter season, then your home may be a victim of underhumidification.

The average relative humidity in most homes in winter is less than the Sahara Desert in summer. This means that your home in winter is probably drier in the winter than the Sahara is in summer—and that's plenty dry.

Through lack of moisture in the indoor air, household furnishings dry out, and the damage to them may be considerable. The joints of tables and chairs come loose, draperies and curtains, rugs and upholstery become brittle, and paint and plaster crack.

The explanation for dry-out damage can be found in a simple principle of physics: Cold air holds less moisture than warm air. Air at 70 degrees F. holds 16 times as much moisture as air at 0 degrees F. The cold air outside in the wintertime can hold only small amounts of moisture, even when nearly saturated.

Structural leaks in the house allow this cold, dry air to seep into the house at the rate of from ½ to 1½ house volumes per hour, depending on how tightly the house is built. On entering the house the cold air is heated and then is capable of holding a greater amount of moisture.

Moisture is soaked up from every available surface by this warmed-over cold air. As a result, moisture is taken from walls, furniture, curtains, and even occupants of the house.

According to the Humidifier Association, it is a mistake to assume that water condensation on windows indicates excessive humidity in the home. Condensation always takes place when warm air hits the cold surface of the glass.

Even in homes that are tightly insulated the humidity content of the indoor air is low because cold air finds its way in when doors are opened or shut during the course of a day.

The relative humidity within most homes reaches a safe and healthful point when a humidifier is added to the heating system, the Association claims. There are makes and models of humidifiers to fit almost any type of heating system, be it a forced warm air, gravity, steam or hot-water system.

Installed in less than an hour by a heating contractor, the inexpensive humidifier is connected to the nearest water supply. It has controls which automatically feed a supply of water to the unit.

By maintaining the proper relative humidity in your home you also increase your comfort level, and decrease fuel costs in the bargain. Here's how:

In an atmosphere that is too dry, moisture evaporates rapidly from the surface of the body. This causes chilling. To combat the chill, more heat is needed from the furnace to make up for the heat lost from the body.

When a humidifier is in use, less heat is required to bring up the relative humidity. When less

Workshop Patterns

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

Here is a workbench that will stand up under the most rugged use. The reason is that it has a heavy base that is screwed and bolted together. The bolts supporting the screws at points taking the most strain. The top, made of 2 by 3-inch stock bolted side to side gives a good solid working surface. A useful feature about this bench is that an extension for power tools may be attached to the end. Your power tools are fixed to individual bases of plywood which may be interchanged on the extension in a jiffy, using bolts with wing nuts. Where space is limited this is a practical outfit to use various tools with only one motor. Patterns are 25c each. Order 338 for the bench and 337 for the extension.

A Diet To Start BEFORE You Get Fat

It's Part Of Everyday Life To Donna Reed

By DONNA REED
(Written for NEA Service)

As a star, I'm faced with pretty much the same problems facing all other human beings. Only my problems sometimes seem more complex.

For one example, there's a matter of weight. The average person can gain or lose a couple of pounds without finding it a matter for concern. But this isn't true with me. The cameras are cruel about catching an extra pound or two. So I'm weight-conscious, like many other Hollywood actresses.

Good (?) Old Days

Perhaps this is a good thing, in a way. Because ideas about food have changed gradually over the years. My aunts and uncles talk nostalgically about the good old days when dinner was a thick soup followed by meat and potatoes, three vegetables, a salad, hot bread, relishes, pie or cake and coffee with lots of cream and sugar.

But were these really the good old days? I don't think so. There's no fun in eating on so much weight that you then must go on a strict diet and stay there over a period of months in order to lose. I'd rather watch my food intake daily and start cutting calories as soon as I notice the hand on the scale begins moving up.

Lenten Series At Presbyterian Church

The first in a series of Sunday evening Lenten services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday, Feb. 28, at 7:30 p. m. The services will be marked by book reviews which will be given by the Rev. George Reichard of Carroll College, interim pastor, and the Rev. David Buzza of Menominee. At the opening service Sunday evening Mr. Reichard will review two of J. B. Phillips' books, "Making Men Whole" and "God Was Man."

ACADEMY AWARD winner Donna Reed can't afford to wait until the pounds pile up to start dieting. There's no reason why you should, either, for the smart way to stay sensibly slim is to diet BEFORE you get fat. Here's the first of a seven-day series in which Miss Reed shows you how she makes calorie-counting a normal part of everyday living—and shares it with her husband and children, just as you can, for healthier living. Teamed up with Miss Reed, whose newest picture is Paramount's "The Far Horizons," is Supervising Nutritionist G. Dorothy Williams, Head of nutrition education for the New York City Health Department. Miss Williams, who has taught at school and university, here maps out a detailed diet to help you follow Miss Reed's example.

Actress Donna Reed weighs in on the scales at the corner drugstore, where she checks constantly as part of her plan of "dieting BEFORE you get fat." She watches her food intake daily, starts cutting calories as soon as scale moves up.

Meditations for LENT

By DR. J. CARTER SWAIM
Dept. of English Bible,
National Council of Churches
Written for NEA Service

Lent is a reminder that Jesus "fasted 40 days and 40 nights" (Matthew 4: 2, RSV). When the Hindu mystic, Sadhu Sundar

Singh, became a Christian, he felt that he ought in every way to imitate his Lord.

Going alone into the desert, he noted down in his New Testament the exact day on which his fast began. Then he gathered a heap of 40 stones. One of these he threw away each day. We do not know how Jesus measured the time, but "40" was a symbolic number frequently used by the Hebrews.

It often figured in the history Jesus knew and loved. When he was transfigured, Moses and Elijah appeared, "talking with him" (Matthew 17: 3, RSV). Moses and Elijah represented the Law and the Prophets, and symbolized two great eras in the life of the nation.

When Moses went up to Sinai, "he was there with the Lord 40 days and 40 nights" (Exodus, 34: 28, RSV). When God renewed the strength of the discouraged Elijah, he "went in the strength of that food 40 days and 40 nights" (1 Kings 19: 8, RSV).

Forty is a good round number signifying completion. When the Gospel writers tell us that Jesus was in the wilderness "40 days and 40 nights," they are telling us that his temptation was genuine his hunger pushed to the extreme. No play-acting about this! He knows what we human beings have to go through!

Jesus is "one who in every respect has been tempted as we are, yet without sinning" (Hebrews 4: 15, RSV).

Church Events

Bethany Guild Meeting

Bethany Missionary Guild will meet in the church parlors Monday at 8 p. m. Miss Edith Lindstrom is program chairman and hostesses are the Misses Edith Carlson, Vendula Sundquist and Hilda Olson.

St. Stephen's Guild

St. Stephen's Guild will meet Tuesday, March 1, at 2 p. m., at the home of Mrs. C. E. Johnson, 517 Ogden Ave. Mrs. William F. Kammeier is assisting hostess.

Board of Deacons

The board of deacons of the First Presbyterian Church will meet Tuesday, March 1, at 1:30 p. m. in the church office. It is important that all members, including those newly elected to the board, attend.

Here's a wonderful topping for pancakes for Sunday brunch. Add a good dollop of butter or margarine and a generous amount of sugar and lemon rind to apple sauce; let bubble a bit in a saucepan on top of the range, then ladle piping hot over the griddle cakes.

Bake Bosc pears and serve them with a soft custard sauce for a company dessert. The pears will bake tender in three-quarters to one hour in a moderate oven. Baste the pears with a light sugar syrup while they are baking.

Here's Sound Way To Follow Star's Example

By G. DOROTHY WILLIAMS
Supervising Nutritionist
(Written for NEA Service)

Before you start planning your own diet from the seven-day diet plan that follows, bone up on these basic rules:

1. Size of portions is important. Eat the amounts indicated; more will increase calories; less will mean decreased nutritive value.
2. No sugar or fat is to be added to these meals. Use (a) non-caloric sweeteners, (b) salad dressing made from lemon juice or vinegar or tomato juice with spices, herbs, paprika and pepper, (c) do not use butter or margarine on bread unless indicated, (d) cut off all extra fat from meat. Where "beverage" is indicated, it means black coffee or tea with lemon and noncaloric sweetener.
3. Snacks can be a problem. Remember that the cocktail hour means calories. In general: 3 1/2 oz. wine, equal 75 calories; a highball, 100; a cocktail, 125, or 8 oz. beer, 125.
4. Don't forget breakfast. Meals at regular hours prevent that "all gone" feeling and helps with your reducing plan.
5. That big salad with a spicy dressing saves the day. Eat plenty of raw vegetables; they satisfy.
6. Don't make exceptions. A slow steady loss in weight is best.
7. Learn to like these foods. Reduce and stay that way.

When Baby grows into a toddler, don't get upset by his dawdling. Little children cannot measure the passage of time. Reminders will help but nagging will produce only bad results. ### Nancy Gosselin Beomes Bride Of Philip C. Hurst

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Melican officiated at the double ring wedding ceremony of Miss Nancy Joanne Gosselin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gosselin, 1315 1st Ave. N., and Philip Charles Hurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Hurst of St. Louis, Mo., at St. Patrick's Church Feb. 19.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a fitted bodice and a stand up collar on the lace yoke. The gown was designed with a bouffant skirt. She carried two lavender orchids on a prayer book.

Bridal Attendants

Miss Barbara Toushak, cousin of the bride, acted as maid of honor, while the bride's sister, Mrs. LaVerne Kostuch, was bridesmaid. The bride attendants wore gowns of forest green and ruby, respectively. They carried colonial bouquets of carnations. Flower girl was a niece of the bride, Marilyn Derusha.

Best man for Mr. Hurst was Charles Stoll, the bridegroom's cousin. Leon Gosselin, brother of the bride, was groomsmen, while ushering the guests to their seats were Edward Gosselin, the bride's brother, and Kenneth Kostuch, brother-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. Gosselin attended her daughter's wedding attired in a peach dress, while the bridegroom's mother wore a navy dress. Both mothers wore corsages fashioned of white carnations and red roses.

Chicago Honeymoon

A wedding dinner for the bridal party and immediate families was served at the U.C.T. Club. A reception and dance for 250 guests also were held at the U.C.T. Club with two nieces of the bride, Darlene and Judy Cormier, serving at the reception.

When the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Chicago, the new Mrs. Hurst wore a navy suit complemented by an orchid corsage. The bride is a graduate of Escanaba Senior High School, while Mr. Hurst graduated from St. John High School.

Wedding guests attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hurst Sr., Charles Stoll, Loretta Gegg and Rosemary Hagemeier, St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kostuch, Fond du Lac, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gosselin, Mrs. Joseph Pelletier Sr., Mrs. Howard Fromm, Mrs. George Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gosselin, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pelletier Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lamott, all of Munising.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By Josephine Culbertson

A PROBLEM OF TIMING

THE precise timing of such a hand as the following is no simple matter for the average player or the expert.

North dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ K 9 5	♥ A Q 7 4	♦ A K 10 5 2	♣ J
♠ A 7	♥ 10 9 8	♦ J 6 3	♣ Q 10 4 2
N	E	S	W
♠ Q J 10 8 4	♥ 3	♦ 7	♣ A K 8 7 5 3

The bidding.

North	East	South	West
1♦	Pass	2♠	Pass
2♥	Pass	2♠	Pass
3NT	Pass	4♠	Pass
5♠	Pass	6♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

North's overall bidding was somewhat questionable—since he "reversed" with hearts on the second round and jumped from two spades to three no-trump, he had little left for the urging five-spade bid—but the slam was not an unreasonable venture.

West, holding considerable strength in South's obviously long club suit, might well have tried to protect that holding by leading the ace and another trump, but he elected to open the top of his heart sequence. Declarer put up dummy's ace, cashed the club ace and ruffed a low club, then trumped a heart to lead and ruff another low club. All this, however, was fast shortening. South in trumps, and since he could not afford to lead the low spade still in dummy—West would have won and given his partner a club ruff—South had to use another trump on a heart or diamond ruff for re-entry to his own hand. The upshot was that declarer inevitably lost control of the trump suit, and the contract became hopeless.

Now observe the difference if South had ruffed both high clubs before ruffing a club (with the spade nine). He would then use one of his own trumps on a heart ruff, and would clear the club suit by ruffing another round with the spade king. Now he would lead the spade five, and nothing the defenders could do would bring them more than one trick, the ace of trumps.

The general analysis of this hand was that the contract could scarcely be made against a really bad break of clubs or trumps, and so there was no good reason for not cashing the ace and king of clubs immediately.

Frank Karas Concert Honors Man Who Left Rich Heritage Of Music

PRESENT CONCERT ON SUNDAY—The Green Bay Symphony, a 55-piece orchestra conducted by Ralph Holter, will be heard in a Karas Memorial Bandshell concert at 8 p. m. Sunday in Wm. Oliver Memorial Auditorium, Escanaba Junior High School. Frank Karas' love of fine music is being perpetuated by the Karas Memorial Committee.

The third annual Karas Memorial Concert will be held in Escanaba Sunday evening at Wm. Oliver Auditorium, and there may be some newcomers to the community who will ask: "Who was Frank Karas? Why should there be a concert in his memory?"

Frank Karas was an Escanaba teacher and musician, and beyond that he was a good friend who brought a gift of fine music to the community. He died on July 4, 1948.

The story of Frank Karas, written in 1950 by Charles Larson, former Escanaba Daily Press staff member and now with the Lansing State Journal, explains eloquently the man and the plans for his memorial. Larson's story, "Frank Karas, a life dedicated to beauty," is as follows:

Frank Karas loved beauty where he found it.

Where there was no beauty, he created it.

Beautiful music. Beautiful flowers. Beautiful trees. A beautiful family life.

A native of Czechoslovakia, Frank Karas chose America as his home.

America gave much to Frank Karas. It gave him freedom. It gave him a chance to make a living — the thing he loved best — music, beautiful music.

America gave Frank Karas a chance to rear a family — a fine, talented, clean cut family—away from the constant fears and upheavals of strife-ridden, war-torn Europe.

America gave him a chance to enjoy the things he loved to do. To hunt, fish, plant flowers and trees and play and teach music.

But, in return, Frank Karas gave much.

First of all, he gave three years of his life from 1908 to 1911 to service in the United States army, mostly in the Philippines and Hawaii.

Making a living for his wife — Escanaba's kindly "Ma" Karas — and his two sons and two daughters was not always easy.

He worked as a file maker in Chicago and studied music.

Later at Menominee, he worked in a furniture factory, played in the band and gave music lessons.

When he came to Escanaba in 1924, he played in the Delta theater orchestra afternoons and evenings and taught private lessons in his spare time.

Those days were days of struggle to provide for a growing family.

Then he joined the public school faculty as a music teacher.

Through it all, he gave unselfishly of his time and ability as a musician to make Escanaba a finer place in which to live.

Few will ever know of the many long hours he gave without pay, playing solos for church services, memorial rites, school functions and other events where his music added so much.

Many a youngster, with a born love of music but without enough money to take lessons got many hours of free instruction. Frank Karas never wanted a child to be denied a musical education. Often times, he even provided the instrument.

Those hours of unselfish devotion to the music, children and community he loved were hours that Frank Karas wanted to spend in his flower garden and in the woods.

In late years, he was able to spend many hours—not as many as he wanted, perhaps — at the Karas family cottage overlooking a beautiful stretch of the "rushing Escanaba" river where the Squaw creek enters it near Boney Falls.

There he and some of his music students planted almost a thousand Norway pines near the cottage. Many of them now are eight

Company C Boasts Unit Strength Of 100 Men; Noted For Achievements

Company C, 107th Engineers, Escanaba's capable unit in the Michigan National Guard, passed another mile post in its long and proud history this week when it boosted its strength to 100 enlisted men.

This marks the first time in peacetime that the unit strength has been this large and without a doubt is a tribute to the excellent showing the company has made in recent years in both armory and field administration and training.

The company has won the full respect of the community for its cooperative attitude, contribution to community activities and for the caliber of its training program and general overall appearance. Persons who visit the armory during drill night are amazed at the scope and variety of training to fulfill the many requirements of the Army Engineer's role.

The 100th man to be enlisted in the Delta county unit is Pvt. Larry A. Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Swanson, 208 South 18th St., Escanaba, who is pictured in an adjoining column.

Under the leadership of Capt. Roy J. Johnson and a capable staff of officers, Company C has grown from scratch in post-World War II reorganization days of 1946 to a strength of four officers and 100 enlisted men and has won many honors at Camp Grayling, the summer National Guard encampment site, and also honors within the Michigan Military Establishment.

Organized In 1939

Company C was first organized in Sept. 1939 as part of the Upper Peninsula battalion, the 107th Engineers. Its members served admirably throughout World War II and were in fact among the first troops to be mobilized for World

STILL COMING IN

Since this article was written, two more Escanaba young men have joined the Delta county National Guard unit. They are Corporals William J. Bucholtz, 311 South 10th St., and Robert J. Marenger, 121 North 20th St. Both are ex-servicemen and thus eligible to join at the comparable rank they held in U. S. military service. This increases the strength of Company C to 102 and leaves only eight vacancies to top authorized strength of 110.

War II service, training overseas for approximately three years before participating in the landings at Normandy and helping in the big push across the continent to final victory in Germany.

FOR FUTURE SWIMMERS

A new wading pool for children has a frame of steel plates which fold accordion-style but can be opened into a circular pool in a jiffy. The liner of the pool is velon film laminated to provide a nonslip surface for the youngster. The frame is available in red and yellow, blue and yellow and red and white. Vacuum cleaner adapters for inflating the pools are included.

Supply Sgt. Walter A. Mokszyke of Ford River, is handing Swanson his supplies. Swanson is the 100th recruit marking the first time in peacetime the local Guard unit has reached 100. (Daily Press Photo) tinuity was fixed and officially recorded.

As a result of this, the 107th became eligible for and was awarded 13 major campaign honors covering its service back to the Spanish American War.

Proud Tradition

Currently with companies in Escanaba, Manistique, Marquette, Calumet and headquarters in Ishpeming, the 107th is carrying on the outstanding tradition of service to community, state and nation that has been its heritage down through the years.

"We are exceptionally proud of the fine caliber of men who are joining Company C and who have made it possible for us to reach a strength of 100 for the first time," Captain Johnson said. "It demonstrates that our work in the past has not been in vain and that we can be proud of our company."

At the 1954 field encampment, Company C was rated "Excellent" just a shade below a "Superior" rating, the highest in the United States Army. Its Inspector General rating also was "Excellent."

20 Communities In All

With the enrollment of Private Swanson, Company C now has 43 Escanaba, 22 Gladstone residents and seven Bark River residents among its 100. Other towns of Ensign, Ford River, Hyde, Harris, Kipling and others in Delta county and also Menominee county are also represented. Twenty communities in all are represented in Company C's membership.

The following is a roster of the company by community:

Siesta Habit Is Enjoyed By Many People Of World

WASHINGTON — A significant but homely social custom, the siesta, has long been ignored by historians.

Yet for uncounted centuries the siesta has influenced government, business, international trade, war, rebellion, family life and human health across a large slice of the world, the National Geographic Society says.

Costa Rica's recent short-lived military flare-up left ample time for soldiers to take their afternoon snooze along front lines, according to news pictures. In Madrid last year, proposals to abolish the siesta erupted into heated controversy.

Sixth Hour

It was the Spanish who named the siesta, taking the word from the Latin sexta hora, sixth hour after dawn, noon. But the saving habit of sleeping through the heat of midday was not a Spanish invention.

Perhaps it began in cool hillside caves above the sunbaked Tigris and Euphrates Valleys. Pharaohs napped in palaces by the Nile. Centurions of Rome snored during the blazing hours in North African and Near East lands. Moors brought the custom to the Alhambra at Granada and found the Spaniards already dozing. Spanish conquistadors in turn took siestas in the Aztec halls of Montezuma and the fortresses of the Inca.

Today whole cities and countries shut up show while the sun is high and hottest. From noon until four o'clock in some lands, all business stops and men sleep.

From 12:15 until 1:45 in Ciudad Trujillo, capital of the Dominican Republic, a caballero could shoot a rifle up or down most of the main streets with little danger of hitting anybody. Then an electric fire siren shatters the silence to warn siesta-takers that it's almost time to go to work again.

Late to Bed, Early to Rise

Siesta and paseo (the public stroll an hour after sundown), extremely late dinners and theater performances that begin at 11 p. m., all are related Spanish customs. Early rising to take advantage of the cool, fresh morning hours makes it almost imperative that a person sleep during the height of the sun.

Mexico's capital, bursting at the seams in recent years, has largely done away with its noon-time sleep, partly because public transportation was not up to taking the entire breadwinning population back and forth between home and working place four times a day. The revolution came about in the 1940's without social upheaval, although at World Series' time baseball-conscious Mexicans may revert to the "siesta."

In the Spanish village of Alcolea the annual celebration of the day of Our Lady of Angels includes a mandatory six-hour siesta from 2 to 8 p. m. Offenders found on the streets are subject to two days in jail.

Sailing On Lakes Healthy Vocation

LUDINGTON, Mich. (AP)—Capt. Allen K. Hoxie, 75, has ended a 57-year Great Lakes sailing career he started because a physician prescribed an outdoor job to heal a lung injury. Capt. Hoxie was skipper of the Milwaukee Clipper when he retired from a career that spanned sail, steam and diesel vessels. And he never lost a ship or a life in all those years. He got his master's papers in 1903

MANISTIQUE

City Leaguers Plan Tourney

Manistique's independent basketball activities for the current season will culminate in a city-wide tournament in the old high school gymnasium in which three evenings will be devoted to determining the supremacy of the quintets that make up the City Basketball League.

On Tuesday evening the Roof-toppers will play Gulliver and on Wednesday evening the CIO will play the Papermill. Winners of these two games will meet on Thursday evening. All off these games begin promptly at 8 p. m.

Competition is particularly keen between the Roof-toppers and Gulliver. Both of these teams are tied in the league's standings, each having ten wins and two defeats and also having won and lost the same number of games against each other.

Rosters are in the hands of the league secretary and players will be strictly limited to the names appearing on those rosters.

Seb Rubick, league head and referee, will choose the officials for each night's game.

William Brett, Detroit, Well Known Here, Dies

William Keegan Brett, prominent Detroit attorney and well known in the Manistique vicinity died Friday morning at his home following a heart attack, according to a message received here by his brother-in-law, Dr. Alfred Radgens.

Attorney Brett, 53, a graduate of the University of Detroit law school, won prominence from his athletic activities. He was captain at one time of the U of D football and basketball teams and an active member of the University's Alumni Club. An ardent hunter and fisherman, he had visited often in Manistique.

His wife is the former Lulu Radgens, a sister of Dr. Radgens. Funeral services are tentatively set for Tuesday morning, Dr. and Mrs. Radgens and son Pat left for Detroit Friday afternoon and will be there until after the rites.

After the dinner cards were played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Clarence McNamara, Mrs. George Matthews and Mrs. William McKenzie Sr., in bridge and Mrs. Peter Rozich, Mrs. Val Klimpf and Mrs. Tiglas in canasta.

Relief Load In County Has Been Lighter This Year

In spite of the fact that winter employment is not as heavy as in most years of the recent past, the demands on public welfare are not as heavy.

"Of course, the winter isn't over and March is usually our hardest month," says Miss Maria Tracey, public welfare director. But she states that thus far the calls for assistance have been fewer than in other years of the recent past.

Increase in social security benefits and other legislation tending to liberalize social legislation are said to have a bearing on the ease of the assistance load has not as yet been fully determined.

Civil War Prison Put Up For Sale

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—You can get a bargain if you want an old fort in Charleston harbor. It is known as Castle Pinckney.

The only historical value of the dilapidated structure is age and the fact it was used as a Civil War prison. The original Castle Pinckney was a log structure. An earlier version of Hurricane Hazel made a pile of fire wood out of it in 1804.

The present brick structure—or what remains of it—was completed in 1810, and named after Charleston's Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, ambassador to France after the Revolution.

Part of the masonry foundation, a frame dwelling and a large brick warehouse are about all that's left standing.

Pinckney and the island have been juggled back and forth between the U. S. Engineers, who used it as a storage depot, and the National Parks Service, which wants to get rid of it. There are no takers.

RECENT BRIDE—At an 11 a. m., ceremony Saturday, Feb. 19, at St. Francis de Sales Church, Miss Charlene M. Gardner became the bride of Lawrence E. Curran. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gardner, 202 Chippewa Ave., are the bride's parents and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curran, 114 S. Mackinac Ave. They will make their home at 202 Chippewa Ave. (Photo by Harbin)

Wide Turn On Sharp Curve Leads To Ticket And Fine

John J. Traynor of Sault Ste. Marie was fined $25 and costs of $5 when he pleaded guilty Thursday in justice court before Judge E. J. Doyle to a charge of reckless driving and driving under the influence of liquor. The arrest was made Tuesday afternoon in Thompson township by state police.

Traynor was ticketed after his car had left the road on old Highway U. S. 2. He had come upon a sharp curve and failed to negotiate it. He admitted to the investigating officer that he had been drinking.

The Rev. Niles Byers, of Hiawatha township, paid a fine of $8 and $2 costs Thursday following his plea of guilty to a charge of failure to yield right of way. He had been ticketed Wednesday by a member of the city police force.

Howard Henry of Manistique, paid a fine of $2 and $2 costs for driving without an operator's license. He had been ticketed by state police.

Ellis Island has been used since 1891 by the U. S. government as the chief immigration entry point.

Advertising helped make the difference

WASHDAY WAS DRUDGERY in Grandmother's day . . . long hours of sweating, straining, back-breaking work. Today's housewife uses a modern washer and dryer. Manufacturers have reduced washday chores to a turn of a dial.

But to mass produce millions of washers and dryers, manufacturers must be able to sell them by the millions. Only by advertising can a manufacturer talk to millions of people at one time.

ADVERTISING TELLS the story of new home appliances . . . and helps sell them. The more it sells, the more must be made—keeping the production lines and the jobs going. The result: newer, better home appliances at prices more people can afford to pay. Advertising helped make the difference—in home appliances, and in our American way of life.

“I talked to him,” Sutton said wildly. “I—he wrote me a letter two—three years ago. Lester Smithson is alive, I tell you, he’s alive.”

“He’s dead,” said Johnny bluntly. “You killed him 12 years ago. Jess knew it then, but kept quiet. But he never trusted you. He was afraid of you.”

Carmichael faced his nephew, his eyes blazing like an avenging angel’s. “Did you kill my son?”

Sutton backed away. “He was raised with a gold spoon in his mouth. He had everything and I—I was poor.”

“Poor!” burst out Sam Cragg. “How can a guy live in the Bar-bizon-Waldorf and be poor?”

“I gave him an allowance,” Carmichael said. He moved toward Sutton. “I gave you money and you—you killed my son . . .”

“I needed more money,” Sutton wailed. “I—I’ve been wiped out. I speculated and I lost every dollar and went into debt.” Sutton sank into a chair and began to sob.

Carmichael stood over him; his big body seemed to slump and he aged before Johnny’s eyes. Hertha Colston moved up to him quietly and put her arms about Carmichael’s shoulders.

Carmichael looked at her and smiled wanly. “They told me when he was a boy that he had a vicious streak in him. I—I thought he’d outgrown it. I would have made him my heir . . .”

“He counted on that,” Johnny said soberly. “He hired me last night to find Lester Smithson. He knew very well that I wouldn’t be able to do that; but he figured it was a good thing, to throw suspicion in another direction. Blame Lester Smithson. Lester had reason to kill Jess, he figured. If he could make you believe that Lester had come back and killed Jess he was all right.”

Lieutenant Madigan moved forward. He snapped a pair of handcuffs on Sutton’s wrists and said

“We’ll get a statement from him down at Headquarters.”

The phone rang suddenly, shrilly. Everyone in the room looked at it, but no one moved toward it. Johnny finally stepped across the room and picked it up. “Yes? Who?” He winced. “Yes, he’s here.” He covered the mouthpiece. “Mr. Carmichael, it’s Alice Cummings. She wants to talk to you.”

“I have nothing to say to her,” Johnny said into the phone. “Sorry, babe, Mr. Carmichael has nothing to say to you . . . Yes, it’s me, your old friend, Johnny Fletcher . . .” He winced again. “You’ve cut your price to $10,000? For what? . . . Oh, the pennies and dimes, eh?”

“Let me talk to her,” Hertha said suddenly.

“She wants to sell $6 worth of change for $10,000,” chuckled Johnny. He handed the phone to Hertha Colston.

Hertha told Alice Cummings what to do with the coins.

Johnny and Sam shook hands with the lawyer outside the courthouse in Peekskill. “A tremendous victory, gentlemen,” the attorney said enthusiastically. “I told you I could do it.”

“You call a $500 fine a victory?” asked Johnny cynically.

“For forgery, grand larceny, jail-breaking . . .”

“Cut it out,” shuddered Sam. “A victory,” the lawyer said firmly. “If it wasn’t for the fact that the city prosecutor is my cousin and that I just happen to play golf with the judge, it would have been five years in the State penitentiary. Six months in the county jail, at the very least.”

“All right,” said Johnny. “Thanks. Thanks a million. You did a great job. The next time one of us gets arrested in Peekskill, we’ll give you our business.”

“You’ll be in good hands. And now, I must say goodbye to you, gentlemen. One of my, ah, clients has been charged with stealing a, ah, a bus. Ridiculous, of course, but I must do my duty by him.”

Goodbye, gentlemen.

The attorney hustled away and Johnny and Sam walked toward the bus stop where they would get a bus that would take them back to Manhattan.

“I’m never going to come anywhere near Peekskill again,” said Sam solemnly.

“It’s a good thing Mr. Carmichael gave me that $1000 this morning. He didn’t really have to give it to me, you know. It was for finding Lester Smithson. And I never found him.”

“How could you find him when he was dead?”

Johnny suddenly snorted. “Imagine that lawyer—a thousand bucks! And cash he wanted, too. Before the trial.”

“I’m sorry, Johnny. We’re just about broke again, aren’t we?”

“After we pay the bus fare we’ll have about 70 cents left over,” Johnny shook his head and sighed. “Well, that’s too bad. I was going to mail $36 to Mr. Peabody—along with the pawn ticket for his suit. But now, I guess, I’ll just mail him the pawn ticket. That’s better than nothing, isn’t it?”

“Let’s spend the 70 cents,” Johnny said.

Eskymos Top Flivvers 69-64 In Final Game

The Escanaba Eskymos tuned up for next week's district tournament at Holy Name by pinning a 69-64 loss on the Kingsford Flivvers in their final home showing of the 1954-55 campaign at the Junior High gym last night.

Coach Jim Betchek's Esky quint evened its record at 8-8 with the win last night.

Reserve guard Mike Heminger put the hotly-contested game on ice for the Eskymos midway in the final period when he staged a one-man performance that buried the Flivvers in a 62-53 hole. The Eskymos held a slim 53-51 lead when Heminger went into a spurt of action that had the large crowd gasping for breath.

Starts Point Spurge

First he flipped in a two-hand set shot from outside the free throw circle to give Escanaba a 55-551 margin. The Flivvs scored a bucket and Heminger canned an identical set shot moments later. With 3:30 remaining in the game Heminger drew the Kingsford defenses to one side of the basket and drilled a perfect pass to Jack Carlson who laid it up to spread the margin to 59-53.

At the 2:52 mark Heminger came down with a rebound under the basket, laid up two points and drew a foul in the process. He sank the free throw to make it 62-53.

Cooks Hands Bark River 16th Straight Cage Loss

BARK RIVER—Cooks closed its regular season in basketball last night by handing the Bark River Broncos their 16th straight loss of the campaign, 58-49.

The Broncos took a 9-8 lead in the first period but fell behind at the half, 24-17, and were never able to overcome the deficit. Both teams were hot in the third period, Bark River scoring 23 and Cooks 22.

Eugene Miller led both teams with 20 points while Goedert paced Bark River with 18.

Cooks won the Bee team preliminary game, 44-32.

With Ray Crandall

Stan St. Louis, who was a close follower of prep athletics in Escanaba, sends a copy of a paper from Grand Junction, Colo., where wrestling is one of the top high school sports. The night before the edition of the paper, Grand Junction's High School quint had won a 75-58 cage game to remain in contention for one of the berths in the state tournament at Denver. The story carried a one-column headline. But two high school wrestling matches each had three-column headlines and a three-column action picture.

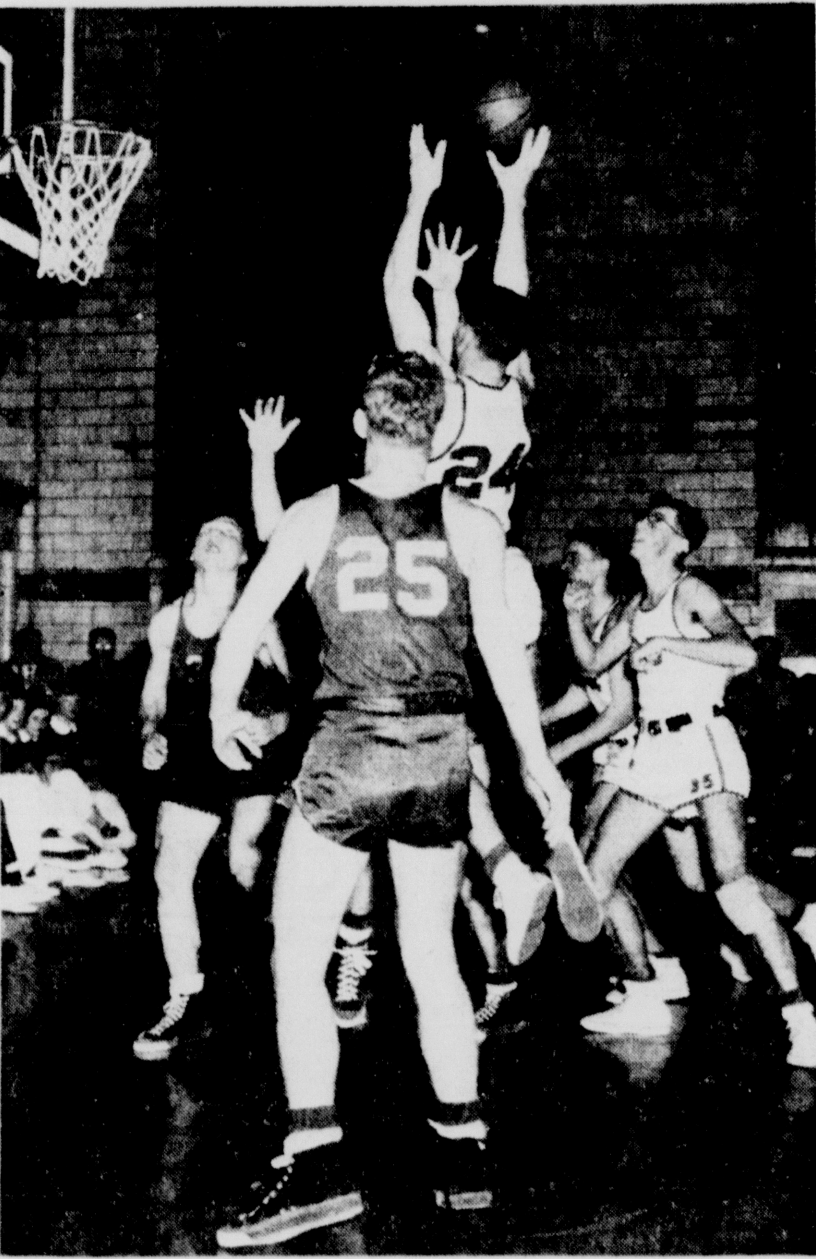

Billy Wells, ex-Menominee High, Michigan State and Washington Redskins grid great, finished seventh in ground gaining in the National Football League last fall. He carried 516 yards in 100 trips, for an average of 5.2 yards per carry. That was the fifth highest average in the pro ranks. Billy's 88-yard run from scrimmage against the Chicago Cardinals was the longest of the season.

Independent basketball teams will have plenty of opportunity to get into tournament action next month. The big Hermansville Amateur tournament gets under way on March 20. From Iron Mountain comes an invitation to teams in this area to enter the Iron Mountain tourney which runs March 28-April 2, with Dick Wittcock, 505 Carpenter Ave., as tournament manager. And Wausaukee's fifth annual tournament starts March 6, with entry for deadline set at March 1. Area teams are also invited to enter that tourney.

Ted Fellman, the Upper Peninsula open division light heavyweight Golden Gloves champion, has been invited to enter the Tournament of Champions in Chicago as a substitute for the Milwaukee Journal champion, Merlin Lindow, of Marshfield who will be unable to make the trip. Fellman didn't compete in the Milwaukee Journal tournament last week because of the illness of his father. Fellman is living in Ferndale, and is due to enter Army service soon.

Braves Lose To Manistique By 55-54, But Back Into GL Title

MANISTIQUE—The Gladstone Braves dropped a 55-54 decision to the Manistique Emeralds in the closing seconds here last night but backed into the Great Lakes Conference basketball championship when the Munising Mustangs tripped Negaunee 53-48 at the Negaunee gym.

The Braves finished the league campaign with a record of six wins against two defeats. Negaunee ended in second place with seven wins and three losses.

Manistique center Bob Corson snatched victory for the Emeralds with eight seconds remaining in the game when he took a low pass from guard Bill Holm, pivoted around and flipped in a layup to put Gladstone behind by 55-54. The Braves still had possession of the ball when the game ended seconds later.

Braves Lead 50-38

Coach Rudie Brandstrom's Emeralds opened with a 15-13 first period lead and stretched it to 32-27 at the half. But, with reserve J. C. Miller playing an important role, the Braves rushed for 23 points in the third period while Manistique cooled off to seven. Gladstone entered the fourth quarter with a 50-38 margin.

Coach Cappy Keil's Braves went into a possession style of play but it failed completely as the Emeralds battled for the ball and succeeded in overtaking the slowed-down Braves. Manistique scored 17 points in the final period while Gladstone tossed in only four, scoring on two field goals by Quinn.

Berrigan Likely To Get Starting Role

John Berrigan, high-scoring Holy Name pivotman, will likely be back in his starting role in the season finale against Gwinn tonight. Coach Tom St. Germain said today.

Berrigan came down with a skin rash and missed several days of school but has apparently suffered no ill effects, St. Germain said.

The Holy Name ace enters the final regular season game with 395 points and an average of 26.3 per start.

Manistique returns to action in its regular season finale tonight at Stephenson. Last night's game was Gladstone's last before the Class C district tournament at Crystal Falls next week.

The win was Manistique's ninth against six losses this season and their fifth straight. Gladstone's final record for the year is 12 wins and four losses.

Gladstone won the 9th grade preliminary game, 40-32.

Hawks Host To Sentinels In Crucial Clash Sunday

Weekend Schedule
Saturday
Canadian Soo at Calumet
Sunday
Marquette at Escanaba
Canadian Soo at Portage Lake

The Escanaba Hawks will be battling to regain second place in the Northern Michigan-Ontario Hockey League standings Sunday afternoon when they face the Marquette Sentinels at 2:15 at the fairgrounds rink.

The Sunday game will have considerable bearing on the final standings in the league, as all five teams in the loop dig in for the stretch drive for four post-season playoff berths. The Hawks slipped out of a tie for second in the standings with Portage Lake when the Pioneers edged the Sentinels 4-3 Thursday night. Portage Lake has 22 points and Escanaba 20, while the Canadian Soo Esquires are on top with 28.

Sentinels In Cellar

Marquette is in danger of finishing fifth in the standing thus missing a playoff berth, so the Sentinels will be all-out here tomorrow. A victory is just as important to the Hawks, however, and they can't afford to let up against their hottest rival in the league.

The Sentinels are anchored in the league basement with Calumet's Radars, each team with 16 points—four behind the hustling Hawks.

After Sunday's home game, the Hawks have another key battle coming up Tuesday night at the fairgrounds exhibition building where they engage the Portage Lake sextet. The Hawks then close the season with a game at the Calumet Armory on Saturday night, March 5.

With both teams geared for sustained action Sunday, fans can expect one of the hottest contests of the season. The natural rivalry with Marquette is normally a hot one, but the fires were fanned recently when the Marquette Hockey Association announced that it would never return to Escanaba's "small rink" after the regularly scheduled Sunday game.

The Sentinels have proved one of Escanaba's toughest foes in recent seasons. They enter the Sunday game with a slight edge on the Hawks, having won two, lost one and tied two in their five meetings this far this season.

An advance sale of tickets has been conducted this week and the crowds for the final two home games are expected to be the largest of the 1954-55 season.

All Hawks are in good physical shape and available for action. Steve Butorac and Tony Mancini are expected back from Canadian Soo to bolster the team in the stretch drive. All others players are on hand.

Rock Beats Eben For Perfect League Record

EBEN—The Rock Little Giants completed one of their most successful basketball seasons in history here last night by defeating the Eben Eagles 61-51.

The victory gives Coach Bob Pelkie's quint a record of 16 wins against a single loss for the 1954-55 campaign and an undefeated Central League record of 14 straight victories. It is the first time in the league's history that a team swept through an undefeated season.

Terry Hade, tall Rock center, finished his regular season scoring with 16 points, boosting his total to 396 points. Hade was tightly bottled up in the middle but broke loose for five field goals and six free throws to lead his mates on the scoreboard.

Rock's scoring was well-divided with three other players hitting in double figures. Ralph Anderson and Duane Vandenbusche scored 13 each and Vernon Norman hit 10. Jack Lund contributed eight and reserve Ronnie Hill one.

Eben wrestled a 15-12 lead at the end of the first period but the Little Giants battled back to tie it at 18-18 and again a 22-22 before taking the lead midway in the second period. Rock was never threatened after that and boosted the margin to 16 points at one stage of the third period.

Rock was deadly from the free throw line, taking advantage of 20 Eben fouls to score 21 points. The Little Giants were outscored by one field goal.

The game was the regular season finale for both schools before district tournament play opens at Rock next week.

The Rock Bee team also won last night, scoring a 51-35 decision.

GARDEN—Cooks, Garden and Nahma won opening round games in the junior high cage tournament at Garden last night.

Nahma ran away with a 62-15 victory over Perkins with Hardwick hitting 15 and Seymour 14. Jaecker scored 12 of the 15 Perkins points.

Gordon McPhee led Garden to a 29-22 victory over Manistique Central with 15 points. Garden took a 12-4 lead in the first period and was never behind. Cooks beat St. Francis of Manistique 26-20 by coming from behind in the second half. St. Francis led 8-3 at the end of the first period and 13-12 at the half. Cooks scored four points while St. Francis was scoreless in the third period and then went on to win.

Two games will be played tonight at 7 and 8:15 with the winners meeting in the championship game at 3 Sunday afternoon. The losers meet in a consolation game at 2.

Rockets Close Season With Win Over Nahma For 13-5 Season Mark

RAPID RIVER — Six players hit in double figures here last night to lead the Rapid River Rockets to an 85-57, Central League victory over the Nahma Arrows in the final game for both teams.

Jay Huff and Pete Wolf set the Rocket pace with 13 points, Goodman, Christoff and Olson scored 12 each and Larry Paul 10. A new starting five of Huff, Goodman, Christoff, Paul and Olson played most of the game, with Wolf substituting for Goodman at the half.

Bob Hamilton sat out the game because of a minor wrist injury that kept him out of practice this week. It is not considered a serious injury, however, and he will be available for the district tournament at Rock next week.

The Rockets moved out to a 21-17 lead at the end of the first period, spread it to 36-27 at the half and then scored the first 10 points in the third to put the game on ice.

Bernard Newhouse and Duane Popour scored identical 17-point totals to pace Coach Harold Anderson's Arrows.

The victory gives the Rockets a 13-5 record for the season.

Hawkeyes Meet Michigan Today

CHICAGO (P)—Iowa's Hawkeyes, aiming for the Big Ten basketball title, meet Michigan today before their showdown battle with Minnesota Monday night.

The Iowa-Michigan battle at Iowa City will be televised nationally (CBS—2 p.m. CST). A victory would put the Hawkeyes in a first place tie with Minnesota, each with 10-2 records. The Gophers are idle today.

Three other conference games are scheduled tonight. Illinois, which still has a mathematical chance for a share of the title, is host to Ohio State. Indiana is at Purdue and Wisconsin is at Northwestern.

Iowa is a heavy favorite to beat the Wolverines. Boasting one of the best balanced teams in the country, the Hawkeyes moved into position for the title by knocking off Michigan State and Illinois in succession. Both games were on the road.

Michigan, beset with injuries most of the season, has four victories and six losses in Big Ten play. Heading the Wolverine attack will be sophomore Ron Kramer. After a slow start following the football season, Kramer has scored 28 points on two occasions and is averaging nearly 20 points per game.

Utah Needs One Win For Skyline Crown

(By The Associated Press)
Utah can grab the Skyline Conference basketball title tonight by whipping Colorado A&M.

An 11th victory against the Aggies would wrap up Utah's first undisputed title since 1931 and send the squad to the NCAA tournament.

The last time Utah went to the NCAA, incidentally, it won the title. That was in 1944 when the Utes were the choice from the Skyline, which recognized no official champion in the war years.

Rated No. 8
The Utes, No. 8 in the Associated Press poll, left just one game between themselves and the skyline title Friday night by disposing of second place Wyoming 75-57.

In another game involving conference title rights, Missouri blasted Oklahoma 91-78 to keep pace with league leader Colorado in the Big Seven.

Colorado plays Kansas State tonight, then meets Missouri in the showdown Monday.

Duquesne, No. 4 in the poll, defeated Cincinnati a second time

Maki's first three efforts yesterday provided a record. He zoomed from the 156-foot scaffold and down the 300-foot incline for leaps of 295, 268 and 300 feet. His total points, based on form and distance, were 324.0.

The "flying Finn's" last ride was the first 300 foot jump to be made officially east of the Rocky Mountains. It smashed the Pine Mountain record by three feet and was only 16 short of the national mark set in 1951 at Steamboat Springs, Colo., by Ansten Samuelstein, a Norwegian exchange student.

Three jumps Friday by each competitor were to be followed by three more today, with the best five out of six deciding the six-man team that will carry U.S. colors in the winter games at Cortina, Italy.

Saddler Eyes Carter After Beating Davis In Ring Title Match

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (P)—He's not the old Sandy Saddler of pre-Army days but the featherweight champion still is the best in his division by far.

He proved it once again Friday night by walloping 31-year-old Teddy Davis of Hartford with monotonous regularity en route to a unanimous decision in the title 15-rounder in Madison Square Garden.

Having disposed of the No. 1 contender of the 126-pound class, Sandy looked forward with eagerness today in the direction of lightweight king Jimmy Carter.

Blames Hand Injury
"That's the one we want next," said manager Charley Johnston. "Sandy has wiped out everyone else so we might as well go after Carter. I'm going to try and make it for May or June outdoors."

Davis, the "loisgint" challenger of all time with 47 previous defeats on a spotty record, blamed an injured right hand for his one-sided defeat.

There was a small lump on the hand about two inches back of the

The surprising Philadelphia Warriors were only a game and a half out of second place in the eastern division of the National Basketball Assn. today.

They're still in last place in their section, but their triple-overtime 113-111 victory over the New York Knickerbockers Friday night gave them a record of 29 victories and 31 defeats. The Knicks and the Boston Celtics, in a second place tie show a 31-30 mark.

In the only other game Friday night, the Celtics turned back the Minneapolis Lakers 107-104 to move into a tie with the Knicks.

knuckle of his index finger. "I hurt it in the third round when I hit him on the head," said Davis.

Dirty Fighter Says Davis
"He's a rough fighter—a dirty fighter," said Davis. "He breaks the rules. The referee should have taken a few rounds away from him."

Harry Kessler, who officiated, warned Sandy many times for holding and hitting and low punching but he didn't penalize the champion. He also warned Davis for his bullying.

Kessler scored it 11-3-1. Judge Harold Barnes had it 12-3 while Judge Bert Grant had it closest with a 9-6 score. The AP card was 10-3-2 for Saddler.

DePaul Coach Rates Marquette Warriors 'Real Great Team'

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (P)—A coach rated as one of the nation's best judges of basketball flesh today called Marquette's victory-weaving Warriors a "real great team."

The Milwaukee Marvells, unbeaten since an opening loss to Michigan State, try for their 22nd straight at Valparaiso (Ind.) University tonight.

Coach Ray Meyer of De Paul, "the man who made Mikan," said Marquette proved its mettle as a ranking contender in the forthcoming NCAA tourney by defeating Notre Dame, 84-74, at South Bend, Ind., Thursday night. Meyer, a former Notre Dame star, saw the game.

Sees No Letdown
"I thought this was a good Marquette team earlier in the season," said Meyer, who is considered the peer of such mentors as Kentucky's Adolph Rupp and Oklahoma A & M's Hank Iba.

"But against Notre Dame, Marquette was a great team. I don't think it will have a letdown and it figures to cause trouble in the NCAA meet."

"Jack Nagel (Marquette's coach) has the combination all coaches would like to have—eight men of fine ability, and three real big guys. No matter who he pulls out of the lineup, the replacement goes just as well."

"Marquette has lots of speed, superb outside shooting and good performance under the boards."

Meyer said he thought Notre Dame was going to trounce Marquette by 40 points after the Irish swept to a 12-1 lead at the outset and let 37-25 at halftime.

"But Marquette started the second half with three shots and three baskets," Meyer said. "That cut Notre Dame's margin to six points. Then Marquette got six more points and when it moved ahead, it stayed there with real poise and class."

Warriors Get Hot
"One thing has been true of Marquette all season is that an opponent never really knows which one of Nagle's men is going to break loose in a scoring spree. The same man never seems to do it twice in a row."

Against Notre Dame, it was Bob Walczak with 27 points. But other times, it has been 6-9 Terry Rand, 6-7 Russ Wittberger, 6-7 Rube Schultz, Don Bugalski, and Gerry Hopfensperger.

After facing Valparaiso tonight, the Warriors close at home March 5 against Notre Dame.

Uses Undersize Nets, Fined $50

A fine of $50, $25 of which was suspended, was imposed on Donald Killoran, Garden commercial fisherman, yesterday when he pleaded guilty to use of illegal gill nets in fishing in Big Bay de Noc.

Complaint in the case was signed by Conservation Officer Chester VanWieran, Escanaba, who with Louis Forge, Bayport, Mich., conservation department patrol boat officer, checked the nets.

Gill nets to be legally fished must have mesh 4½ or more inches in length or 2¾ or less inches in length. Three of Killoran's nets were found to be of illegal size and were ordered confiscated.

Others of the fishermen's nets are to be checked by the officers today.

Killoran told Justice of Peace A. T. Sohberg before whom he appeared that he had bought the nets and they were supposed to be of legal size. He said he never checked them all, assuming they would be of proper size. He has about 80 nets set under the ice.

Court costs in the case were $7.80.

Teachers Get Wage Increase

MARQUETTE—Marquette's Board of Education Friday announced the adoption of a new school salary schedule, which administrators term as "one of the finest in this section of the country."

The salary schedule calls for salary increases averaging about $400 a year, and sets minimum starting salaries of $3,400 a year for teachers with a bachelor's degree and $3,600 a year for instructors with a master's degree.

Minimum increases of $150 will be included in the contract for each year of experience, up to five years, in the Marquette Public school system.

Not All On Schedule

Minimum increases of $100 will be given for each year of experience over five years, up through the tenth year, and minimum boosts of $70 for each year of experience over ten years, up through the 15th year.

However, the Board said that those teachers who do not satisfy the requirements or standards of a good professional teacher by observation of the immediate supervisor will not be placed on the salary schedule.

This concerns teachers who are employed in the Marquette public school system at the present time, and does not supersede in any way the responsibility of the superintendent in denying employment to the poorly qualified teacher, the Board added.

Salary Schedule

By the same token, teachers doing an outstanding job may get an additional increase, over the minimum salary schedule, for their work. This, points out Superintendent Henry J. Bothwell, gives incentive for personal achievements.

Following is the minimum salary schedule for Marquette public schools, for instructors with bachelor and master degrees, with years of experience:

Experience	B.A. Degree	M.A. Degree
None	$3,400	$3,600
One Year	$3,550	$3,750
Two Years	$3,700	$3,900
Three Years	$3,850	$4,050
Four Years	$4,000	$4,200
Five Years	$4,150	$4,350
Six Years	$4,250	$4,450
Seven Years	$4,350	$4,550
Eight Years	$4,450	$4,650
Nine Years	$4,550	$4,750
Ten Years	$4,650	$4,850
11 Years	$4,720	$4,920
12 Years	$4,790	$4,990
13 Years	$4,860	$5,060
14 Years	$4,930	$5,130
15 Years	$5,000	$5,200

Flood Takes High Toll In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, (AP)—Twelve persons were known dead and at least 20 others believed drowned in floods now raging through wide areas of New South Wales state. Hundreds of others were unaccounted for.

State Premier J. J. Cahill today described the three-day disaster as "near catastrophic." Nearly 100,000 square miles of territory were inundated and at least 50 communities between Sydney and the Queensland border were hard hit.

State officials estimated 40,000 persons were homeless as a result of the flood waters, 20,000 of them in the maitland area of the Hunter river valley. A town of about 23,000, Maitland is 120 miles north of Sydney.

Eighty per cent of the city was reported under water, with hundreds of persons clinging to rooftops or marooned on top floors of buildings.

Rock

Home Extension Club

The West Rock Home Extension Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Arne Harju Wednesday afternoon with all members present. Leaders Mrs. Gust Aho, Mrs. Lauri Ranta and Mrs. Lauri Hallinen presented the lesson on "Family Fun." The next lesson will be "Program Planning" with Mrs. Arne Harju and Mrs. Henry Norkoli as the leaders. The next hostess will be Mrs. Lauri Hallinen, with the meeting date to be set later. The hostess served lunch at the close of the meeting.

Rock Union Aid

The February meeting of the Rock Union Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. John Small, Wednesday evening. The devotional message was given by the Rev. Donald Summers. The regular business meeting was held. A song entitled, "Why Do I Sing About Jesus?" was sung by Mr. and Mrs. Small. The book report, "Fifty Years With the Golden Rule," was read by Mrs. Walfred Salo. A musical number was given by Mr. and Mrs. Summers. Guests of the evening were Mrs. Robert Ferguson and Mrs. Martha Sisson. Lunch was served by the hostess followed by a social hour. The next meeting will be held March 23 at the home of Mrs. Martin Falck.

TRAINING COURSE ENDS—A training course for teachers of practical nursing was concluded in Escanaba yesterday. The course was directed by Miss Bernice McGhee, East Lansing, nursing representative for the American Red Cross. The women who took the course will direct training classes in practical nursing in their own communities. These classes will be formed soon. In the group are Mrs. Richard Nelson, Iron Mountain; Mrs. Rudolph Kroeger, Mrs. John Luecke, Escanaba; Mrs. Clifford Peterson, Gladstone; Mrs. Pearl Abbott and Mrs. Andrew Wills, Rapid River; Mrs. E. R. Bornman, Escanaba.

City's Problems In 1905 Were Not Much Different Than Now

A word picture of Escanaba in 1905, the year that Rotary was born, was presented recently to the Escanaba Rotary Club Ladies' Night program marking the organization's golden anniversary. The dissertation was by Clinton B. Dunathan, Rotarian, who consulted files of The Iron Port, Escanaba's early-day weekly, for material.

"I was surprised to find that times haven't changed very much, even in 50 years," he reported to the Rotarians and their ladies.

"In Washington, D. C., President Teddy Roosevelt was 'speaking softly and carrying a big stick,' which pretty well describes President Eisenhower's policy of national preparedness. In Lansing the state legislature was concerned about teacher shortages and the need for more school financing aid."

Had Power Problem

"And in Escanaba? Well, the city council and the people were debating — the electric power problem!"

"There were other local problems, too, of course, such as the need for pure water so the inhabitants wouldn't come down with typhoid fever, and to have the new road completed to Gladstone along the shore."

"Escanaba had an electric generating plant 50 years ago. The big question was whether it should be continued. According to news items in the old copies of the Escanaba Iron Port, the electric plant was earning a profit. The council, after heated debate, bought a new steam boiler for the plant for $3,000 and the plant was continued."

"There was a traffic problem in Escanaba in those days, too. It was reported that Fabian Defnet's automobile dray was injured Tuesday morning in a collision with a heavily loaded sleigh. The steering gear was snapped off. There was no report on the fate of Mr. Defnet."

The Familiar Names

"The horseless carriage was more or less a curiosity to Escanabans then. But the 1905 equivalent of the 'hot rodders' were the members of the 'Gentlemen's Riding and Driving Club.' Escanaba's town fathers wouldn't permit the 'gentlemen' to race in town and sent them out on the Ford River Road."

"There was quite a bit of advertising related to horses back in 1905. One was an ad by Alex Maranger of Flat Rock for the sale of a team for $100 — 'good harness included.' Among business and professional men mentioned (but not in relation to the lively trade) were J. H. Anthony, who had returned from a business trip to Houghton, and Dr. John Gross, who had gone to Chicago on business."

"Other names with a familiar ring to present-day Rotarians include Andrew M. Skaug, who was called to jury duty back in 1905; and A. J. Young, D. A. Oliver and C. M. Thatcher, members of a committee of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, who presented a badge of honor to O. B. Fuller, later to become Michigan auditor general.

"Escanaba didn't have movies with stereophonic sound and wide screens back in 1905, but it did have real live talent at Peterson's Opera House. One of the shows was 'Babes In Toyland' with music by Victor Herbert, which was billed as 'the musical triumph of the age.' There were no TV sets in 1905, but a piano could be bought on terms almost as liberal as today. You could get a fine upright for $10 down and $6 a month — how many months wasn't mentioned."

Wanted Pure Water

"Those may have been the good old days, but if the criminal court calendar was any indication, 1905 was certainly violent. Two murder trials were scheduled for the January term of court; and in another case, a Rev. Rutledge of the Anti Saloon League was being sued by a saloon keeper for disturbing the peace. The preacher invaded the saloon and was 'ejected' by the bartender, who complained to the court that Rev. Rutledge 'would neither leave nor drink!'"

"Perhaps the preoccupation of some Escanaba people with strong drink may have resulted from the bad water supplied to the community by the privately-owned Escanaba Water Company. There were many deaths from typhoid in the community and the feeling among the people and on the city council ran high. Among the officials seeking correction of the situation were 'Aldermen Follo and Beck,' whose first names were not given. They said the city should refuse to pay its water bill until the company cleaned up the water."

"Illness in various forms must have been prevalent in the community, judging by the number of patent medicine advertisements. Advertised was St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism, Mexican Mustang Oil for lumbago and frost bite, and other pills and potions for what ailed you. Their use sometimes had the opposite effect. One news item concerned a 'homesteader' from the county who 'drank three bottles of Hinkles Nerve and Bone Liniment and died the following morning.'"

"Yes, 1905 was a great year to remember. Admiral Peary prepared for his first polar exploration; Col. Burley-Campbell raced around the world in a record 40 days; and Sperry invented his gyroscope compass and stabilizer."

"And in Chicago in 1905 Paul Harris, a quiet little man, in a spirit of friendship founded Rotary. All but unknown 50 years ago, Paul Harris is today remembered around the world as the 'inventor' of a philosophy of service and fellowship and understanding through Rotary organization."

Money isn't everything!

Liberace 'Tops' $150,000 Pay From Las Vegas Riviera

Liberace is receiving $150,000 for a three-week engagement opening the Las Vegas Riviera Hotel in the spring. That's quite a handsome sum, considering the President of General Motors, Harlow H. Curtice, considered to be the nation's highest paid industrialist, had to work 52-weeks in 1954 to draw "only" $686,100.

When the Laughing Lib signed the record-breaking Las Vegas Riviera deal he figured it would be impossible for him ever to gain a better booking.

However, Liberace was wrong. The Las Vegas Riviera deal has been topped in his eyes.

On March 19, Liberace has been invited to Washington, D. C., to play to the President of the United States. His fee will be $500.

Liberace is more thrilled about this engagement than any other in his entire life.

Kentuckian Convicted In $15,917 Holdup Of Elsie State Bank

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Edwin A. Townsend, 33, of Newport, Ky., faced a maximum 45-year prison sentence today for his part in the $15,917 holdup of the Elsie State Bank in Clinton County last Aug. 19.

A federal court jury took less than an hour Friday to convict Townsend on two counts in the holdup.

Townsend was arrested last Oct. 14 in Biloxi, Miss. He was indicted by a federal grand jury in Grand Rapids a month later.

President Chooses Color For His Barn

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—President Eisenhower, an amateur artist of note, probably never took more care with an oil portrait than he did in selecting the color he wants his barn painted.

The barn is on his 189-acre farm at nearby Gettysburg, Pa., and the shade he chose — with Mrs. Eisenhower's approval — is pastel greyish green, with a white trim. The President spent five hours at the farm Friday inspecting the nearly completed new home he and Mrs. Eisenhower are building on the historic Civil War battlefield, and going over repair work on the big old barn, now a weather beaten red.

Flint Raids Break Horse Race Betting; 18 Facing Charges

FLINT (AP)—Eighteen men facing gambling charges today as the result of a series of raids by Flint and State police Friday.

Authorities claimed the raids "smashed horse race betting in Flint."

Nine of those arrested were charged with conspiracy to violate gambling laws, and two of them currently are free on $2,000 bonds while appealing previous convictions of the same charge.

The other nine were charged with loitering in a gambling place.

League To Present Power Talks Monday

Informational talks on the electric power question will be presented by members of the League of Women Voters to two church groups in Escanaba on Monday night.

Mrs. R. L. Johnson and Mrs. Robert Mosenfelder will speak to the Episcopal Men's Club and their wives at a 6:30 dinner meeting in the church; and Miss Nina Lev and Mrs. Frank Neumeier will address a meeting of the Presbyterian Men's Club.

On March 3 the League will present power programs at the Washington School and the Barr School, not at the new Lemmer school, as previously announced.
